Nell,
You're a great person to know. Stay that way. See ya this summer and next year.
Debbie Brown

Nell,
I had a great time this year. (Ha! Ha!) you are so lucky you weren't in French II. The Wild-life/Bp Trip is going to be a blast (if we don't drown). Have fun with your job in Colorado. HOPEFULLY I can see you this summer.
Anyway, have a great summer! See ya next year.
Best of luck always,
Your True Friend,

Nell, "81"

I could have never survived in White's classes without you. Boy, does she hand out the work. I look forward to seeing you in some of my classes next year, since I know I have some with you. Tell Lisa to tell her that on the last day at the last minute. No wait, she still might fail. Better Not! Good Luck in the years to come and stay cool!

Luv ya,

Lisa Bernstein

Nell - I really had a great time with you in English. Mrs Hodge in my opinion was a great teacher. I'll never forgit that class! Nell Liz really gotten to know you much better this year! I always love to be around you. You are so neat! I think you're so cute too! I hope I have lots more classes with ya!

Did you know...

2730 feet pass through the 19 halls each day?

"At the sound of the tone, you are released from class...."

The empty hallway is immediately filled as swarms of students emerge from every direction. Nearly all of the stampeding feet are pushing toward the locker area, and those trying to go the other way are helplessly trapped. Greetings, shouts and laughter are heard as friends are noticed in the crowd. "I didn't get my homework done." "Was the Chemistry test hard?" "Did you ever check that library book in?" "I have to ride the bus. My mom needed the car." "Did you know that band practice starts at 7 a.m. Friday?" "Did your mom call in and excuse you?"

The slamming of lockers echoes throughout the building as books are gathered for the next class. The mob moves slowly down the hall in the other direction. The red carpet appears once again as the students filter out along the way. Outside each classroom, parting farewells are heard "until after next hour," and friends hurry on their way. Finally only a few stragglers are left, and they are sent running when the tardy bell rings.

The hall is empty. Once again one can hear the teachers lecturing, books opening and the clock ticking on toward the end of the hour when the halls will again be filled with those familiar sounds.

Did you know...

the average student spends 1,142 hours in the hallways during four years of high school?

Darkness hovers over the high school as the first students stumble off the bus. They enter the quiet hallways with sleepy eyes, and head toward the library to relax until classes begin. Books open as students frantically try to complete their unfinished homework. More students come from the bus, and the dignified upperclassmen show up with their car keys. The library is buzzing with gossip. "Can you believe who Steve took to the movie Saturday night?" "I saw her at the mall." "I can't go. I have to work." "Do you like my new sweater?" "Debbie got her hair frizzed." "I'll meet you at Vista after I help my dad." "Are you going to buy that Boston II album?"

Time passes quickly, and the warning bell sounds. A few students are alerted by the bell, but the majority stay and visit until the last minute and then scamper off to class. The 8 a.m. bell rings. "Social hour" is over.

Did you know...

it takes 268 steps to get from the gym to the biology room?

And if you're in sports, you walk all the way back to the gym after school for practice.

When the final bell sounds at 2:30, the day is over for most E-High students, but not for the athletes. When everybody else leaves, the students involved in sports straggle down to the gym.

In the locker room, the students get ready for another two-and-a-half hour practice. "Are you going to the dance?" "What did you think of the test third hour?" "They broke up." "I hope we don't run hard today."

Practice seems to go on forever. The athletes constantly look at the clock thinking, "We've only been practicing 15 minutes." "Two more hours." "Why am I killing myself like this?" "I have so much homework; I should have gone home." "What are we going to do next?" while the coaches yell, "Concentrate" "Get your butt down" "Let's have enthusiasm" and every once in a while, "Good job."

The whistle blows...and the students can rest for a minute while they discuss their weaknesses and upcoming competition.

Finally practice is over. Tired, sweaty athletes go back into the locker room to get ready to go home. By 5:30, they are draped along the school sidewalk, hair plastered down, schoolbooks piled beside them, waiting for their rides.

Did you know...

it takes 160 steps to march across the football field?

"Spartan Spirit" fills the crisp night air. Friday night has finally arrived and an anxious group of football players warm up on the field. The stands begin to fill with loyal students, parents and friends. A faint drum cadence can be heard in the distance. It grows louder and louder ever so slowly. The stands are now buzzing with excitement and the cheerleaders arouse more enthusiasm.

As the drums become louder, suddenly the band marches through the gate. They take their places on the field, signifying the start of pre-game activities. The flag is saluted with "The Star Spangled Banner" and the band forms an "E" while playing the school song.

A low roar topped with a drum roll becomes louder and louder and then a sudden silence. All eyes focus on the football as it sails through the air on the opening kick-off. Each play brings more shouts and screams as the tension builds. "Go Big Red" "Eat 'em up, Eat 'em up, EHS!"

"TOUCHDOWN!" The crowd becomes ecstatic. The cheerleaders yell and flip down the track while the band contributes to the excitement with the fight song.

Halftime leaves many people still glued to their seats as a flash of brass begins the band's performance. The Spartan Band marches across the field with a variety of music and flag and rifle movement. After a colorful halftime show, the traditional hallway for the football players is formed.

Cheering, music, concessions and exciting football plays fill the second half. As time runs out, fans begin counting the seconds..."10..9..8..7..6..5..4..3..2..1" ending with a final outcry of cheers and shouts.

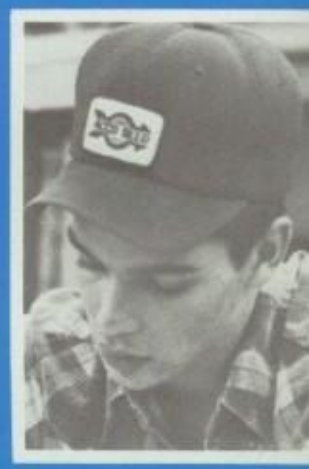
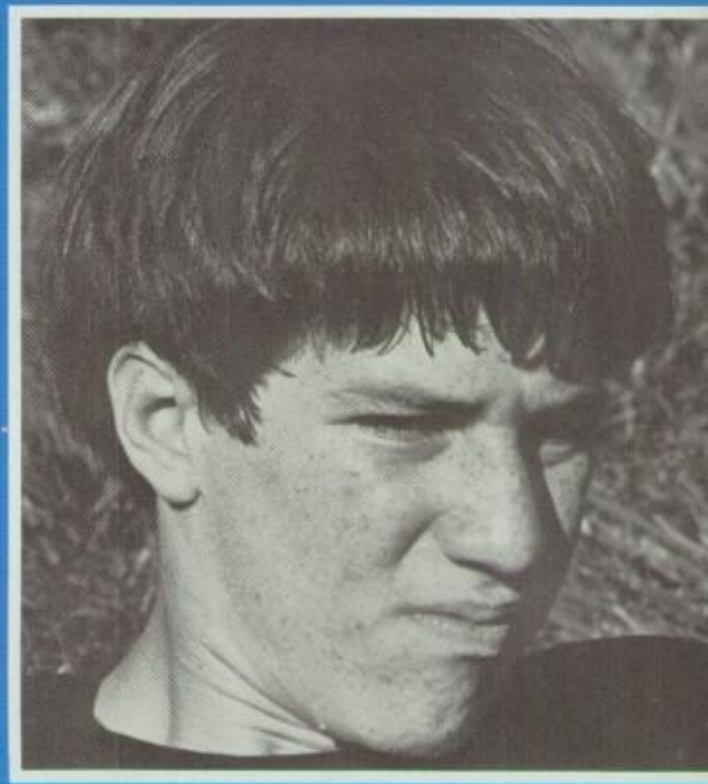
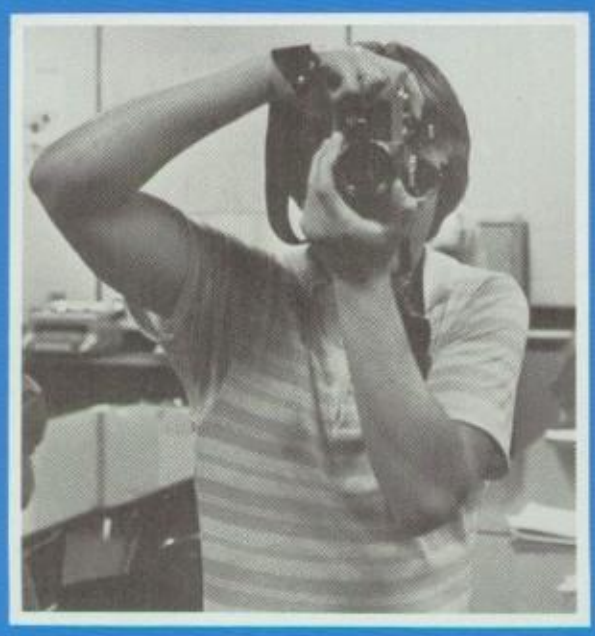
STUDENT LIFE

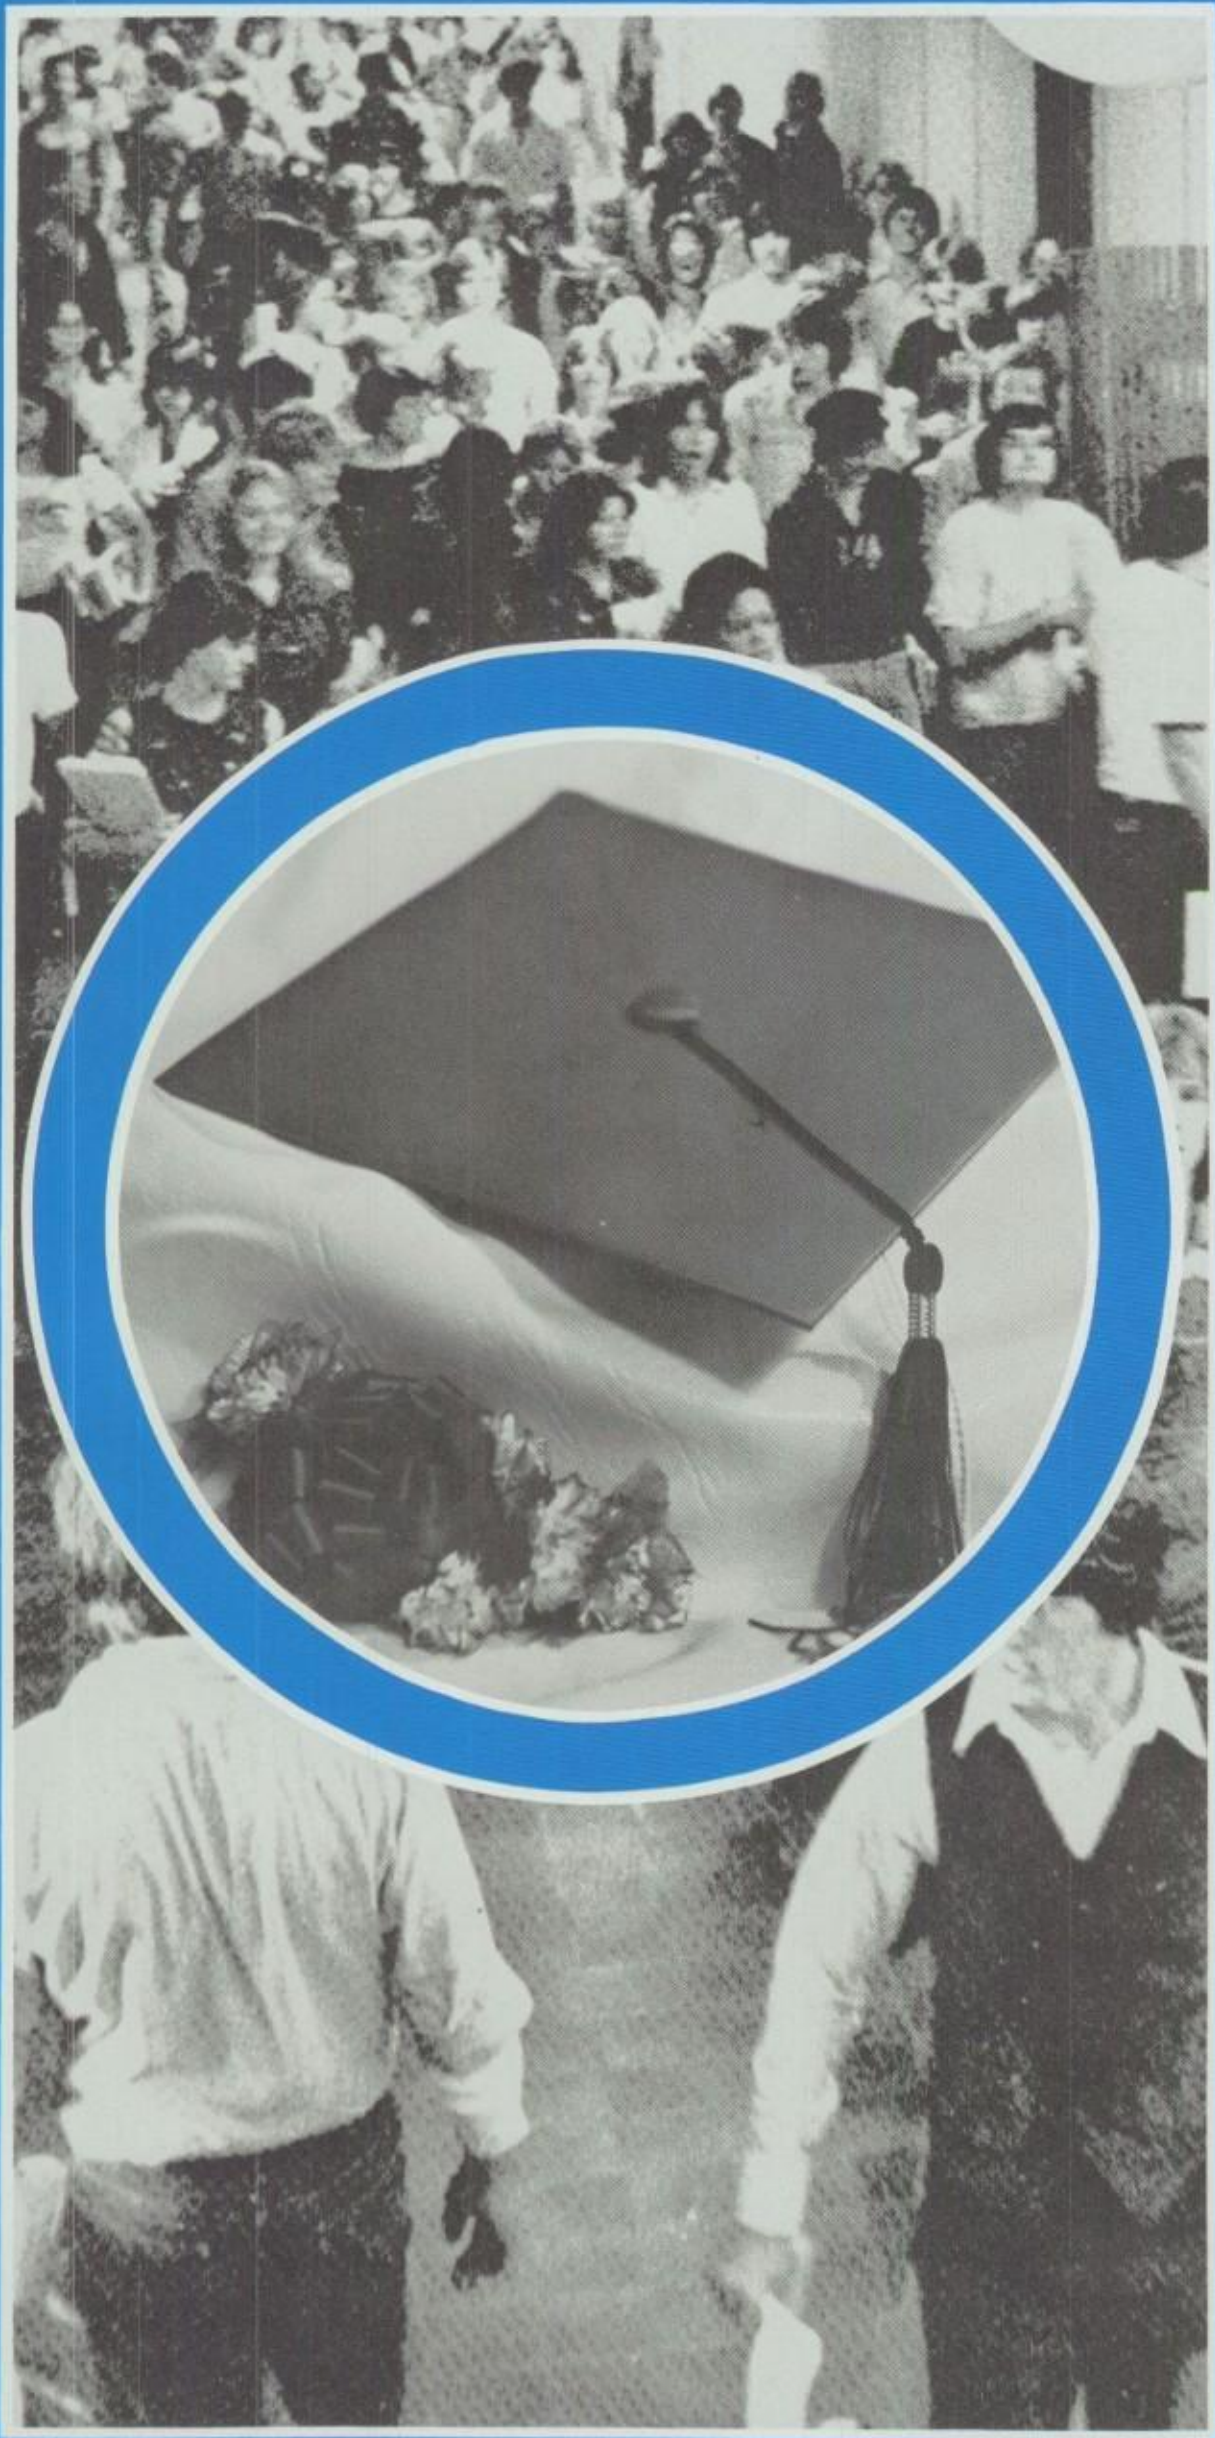
"Student Life" is a week by week account of what goes on during the school year. It focuses on school centered activities and branches out to cover the most important local, state and national news. An accurate historical account also expresses the fads, fashions and general feelings of the students toward each event.

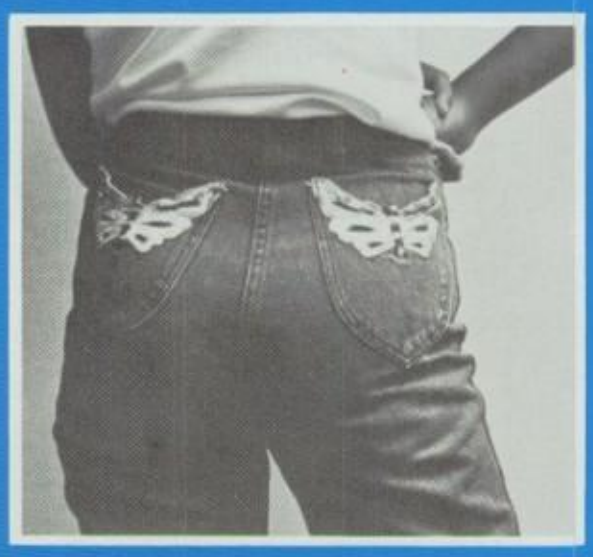
Many moods commonly found in the halls of EHS are illustrated by the faces shown. Jeans were still "king" and designs on the pockets were popular.











School ends summer fun; Kayettes "kidnap" freshmen

Escaping the scorching, dry 100° plus temperatures of the 1978 summer, we thankfully entered our cool school halls August 28.

Upperclassmen resumed last year's activities smoothly, as freshmen experimented with new clubs and activities.

On August 30 the Kayette Board "kidnapped" freshmen from sixth hour classes, leading them outside for sundaes. As the freshmen ate, Kayettes explained the club's purpose.

Yearbook staffers attended a workshop at Ottawa University September 13. New ideas for layouts, pictures and cover ideas were learned.

StuCo and class officer elections were held September 19. Class presidents automatically became members of StuCo for the first time. "Using this system," said StuCo president DeAnna Koch, sr., "I hope to open up communications between the classes and StuCo."

People around the world were stunned by the untimely death of the newly installed Pope John Paul I after only 34 days in office. By October 22, church officials were installing Pope John Paul II.

Suddenly activities seemed to fill every waking hour as the days grew shorter.

Carter holds summit talks; Students go on field trips

Fall greeted us with cooler weather, changing leaves and shorter days.

September 29 we hosted a Kayette-StuCo sponsors conference. Sponsors from all over the state came to the day-long conference and attended sessions on how to improve their clubs.

Attending a regional conference at Marysville were eight Kayettes and sponsors Connie Johnson and Cheryl Moddrell. While there, the girls presented a mock board meeting, attended brag sessions and received the 2000 point award.

October 5-7 23 FBLA members attended the regional leadership conference in Oklahoma City. Members attended various workshops on budgeting time, being observant and getting along with others.

Music students spent many hours rehearsing for their various performances. The marching band attended KU Band Day September 30 and ESU Band Day October 7. Vocal music students presented a fall concert October 18.

On the national scene, President Jimmy Carter opened summit talks September 6 at his Camp David retreat with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Premier Menahem Begin. These talks began a move to resolve the deadlock in the Middle East.

Just as we thought we were settling into a routine schedule, Pigskin candidates were announced and a new excitement filled the halls.

StuCo plans float contest; Becky Davis reigns at game

Pigskin Queen Becky Davis had no idea what was in store for her Friday, September 29, when football tri-captains Andy Hoffmans, sr., Bruce Blaylock, sr., and Craig Watkins, sr., approached the microphone during the assembly.

"The 1978 Pigskin Candidates are...Ann Bloxom, Becky Davis, Mary Hahn, Janet Perkins and Penni Wright."

With that announcement, Pigskin had begun.

Hopefully starting a tradition, StuCo sponsored a mini-float contest. The floats were displayed in office windows and judged by a faculty and student committee. Cheerleaders received first prize, MAISO and the sophomore class received second prize, the junior class received third prize and the senior class received fourth.

With tension building before the game, it was finally announced that Becky Davis, escorted by Jeff Winter, was the new Queen.

Defeating Leavenworth 21-3 helped make the night even more special for everyone.

Listening to the band "Cloud Burst," we danced the evening away among blue and silver decorations, creating the theme "Dream On."

With Pigskin behind us, assignments seemed to pile up as the end of the nine weeks quickly approached.

Students attend career day; Winter activities commence

As fall progressed into winter, our involvement in activities became even more frenzied.

Orchestra traveled to Pittsburg October 16 for a workshop. While there they attended sectionals and presented a concert.

October 18 was the Fall Vocal Concert. Chorale, along with the traditional "Alleluia," sang "Happy, the Man" and "We Praise Thee, Lord." Concert Choir, Treble Choir, Girls' Ensemble and Mixed Ensemble also sang.

Students portrayed many different characters on Spook 'em Day. October 26. It was not uncommon to see creatures from outer space, members of KISS, and walking rollos in the halls.

For the first time here, a college night was held November 16 at Lowther North. Seniors, juniors and their parents were invited to attend and talk to representatives from colleges all over the state.

FBLA sponsored a pizza party December 5 after the first home basketball game. Members contributed a dollar and could bring a guest.

Thirty-nine students, accompanied by Bev Toso, attended Business Career Day at Emporia State University December 6. They attended sessions on different types of business careers and a luncheon at which door prizes were awarded.

With winter sports and the Christmas Program going full swing, we prepared for the approaching Christmas vacation.

Temperatures hit new lows; Snow stretches out vacation

Second semester began with snow, snow and more snow. Temperatures hit new lows for our area, dipping well below zero most of January.

Christmas vacation was extended by one day when blowing snow prohibited much travel. We got out of school early January 23 due to blizzard conditions, but by early afternoon skies were clear.

January 5 we sponsored the annual Silver and Roses Debate Tournament. Schools from all over the state attended, despite traveling conditions, which included a travelers' advisory.

Due to adverse weather conditions, the Kayette Father-Daughter Banquet was changed from January 18 to January 22. A chicken dinner was served to the Kayettes and their fathers at the Holiday Inn. Dr. Kala Stroup, Vice-President of Academic Affairs at Emporia State, spoke on women and career choices.

After our school received a letter from a state board member, the candy and pop machines were closed. Fruit juices, fresh fruit, high grade corn chips and donuts were some of the acceptable items that could be sold.

One of the top figures in money and big business, Nelson Rockefeller, died of a heart attack January 26. Mr. Rockefeller was a previous vice-president during the Gerald Ford administration.

The farther into winter we advanced, the more snow we accumulated on our streets, lawns and parking lots.

Salad bar added to cafeteria; Bakhtiar incites civil war

Weather during February gave us a brief respite from the cold while temperatures soared to the mid 30's.

Thanks to Student Council, a salad bar was opened February 12 at the cafeteria. "I like it. I think it's a good idea," commented Junior Rhonda Wessel. Ham, eggs, cheese and crackers could be added to the lettuce.

Eight newspaper and yearbook staff members qualified for the state KSPA contest when 23 students traveled to Manhattan for the regional contest Feburary 16. Yearbook students who placed were Stacey Wade, first in copywriting; Brenda Boline, first in graphics; Pam Hughes, first in cutlines; Laura Lippert, second in graphics; and Lendi Grimsley, second in theme development. Newspaper students who placed were Jill Bedner, third in makeup; Cathy Carlson, second in headline writing and Liz Hollar, third in feature writing.

February 20, Rotary sponsored a Career Shadow Day for interested juniors and seniors. Students chose from several different occupations such as vocational administrator, undertaker and college administrator.

A new weather record was set February 12 when we had a ground cover of snow for more than 44 days. This broke the previous record which was set in the winter of 1939-40.

The capitol of Iran fell to Ayatollah Khomeini's followers after Prime Minister Shapour Bakhtiar refused to surrender. Rumors of Bakhtiar's flight from the country spread, but were not confirmed.

Mid-winter blahs were partially alleviated by preparations for the traditional Winter Sports Royalty.

King and Queen crowned; Dance held in new school

As we waited for the announcement of Winter Sports King and Queen, a tense silence filled the gym. Finally, Jerry Evans and Leslie Milton were announced as the king and queen. Other candidates were Becky Torrey, Joi Ralston, Ellen Ciurczak, Mary Spalding, Marc Berry, Mike Logan, Jeff Winter and Andy Hoffmans.

The candidates entered the gym through a trellis decorated with gold and red foil, with the theme "Every 1's a Winner" on it in gold letters. After the winners were announced, the candidates reigned over the game sitting in white lawn furniture surrounded by red and gold crepe paper.

After a hard fought battle, during an overtime, we defeated Manhattan by a narrow margin of 62-60.

Activities were completed Saturday with a dance, held for the very first time in the new school. Red and gold streamers, a mirror ball suspended in the center of the gym and a mural representing the various winter sports carried out the theme "Every 1's a Winner." Music was provided by KVV 100, a radio station out of Topeka. "It was fun and different because it was disco rather than a band that plays the same type of songs," said Sophomore Becky Hawes.

With the advent of spring, temperatures rose as did our desire to skip class.

''Academics'' is the part of the yearbook that represents the real purpose of school, the daily classes. Pictures of class activities in each department are included to show the variety of class opportunities available to students. This section should bring back memories of the typical schedule followed day after day for four years.

Home economics adds extra class

A new class was added mid-way through the year in the Home Economics Department. The class, Clothing II-Design, which made costumes for the plays, was taught by Wanda Preston.

Bakeshop again made gingerbread houses. The Wise Cook and Single Survival classes kept busy with various projects. Canning and jelly making in the fall and making fondues and appetizers were just two projects of the Wise Cook class. Single Survival hosted two parent dinners, one in October and the other in January. Both classes visited IBP in November to see how meat is processed.

Ind. Arts classes gain in popularity

Industrial Arts classes grew in popularity during the year, according to Department Head Richard McCoy. "All the classes are extremely full," he added. He also stated that many more girls had taken an interest in the program compared to the past.

Senior Mike Harrouff was recognized as an outstanding Industrial Arts student at the Career Day on Wednesday, November 15 at Emporia State University. Approximately forty Industrial Arts and Home Economics students attended the event.

Guest speakers added variety to Lee Dye's classes. A representative from Didde-Glaser spoke to the Drafting classes September 21, and Mr. Robert E. Veach, a representative from the Wichita Automotive and Electronics Institute, spoke to the Automotive Ownership classes. A group of Industrial Arts students competed in a drawing contest March 6 at Independence Community Junior College.

In Paul Hastings' Woodworking Problem class, Senior Wade Turner made a cherry secretary with curved front drawers for his mother. According to Mr. Dye, Mary Garcia and Jeff Larson were outstanding students in the Introduction to Drafting class. Both students completed their required assignments early and worked on additional projects. "Both do outstanding work in drafting," said Mr. Dye.

Mr. Dye joined the Industrial Arts staff shortly after the beginning of the school year. He left KCVTC in Topeka, which is a minimum security prison. "I had to be on my toes because they were known criminals," explained Mr Dye. He went on to say that the atmosphere here was more of a relaxed attitude.

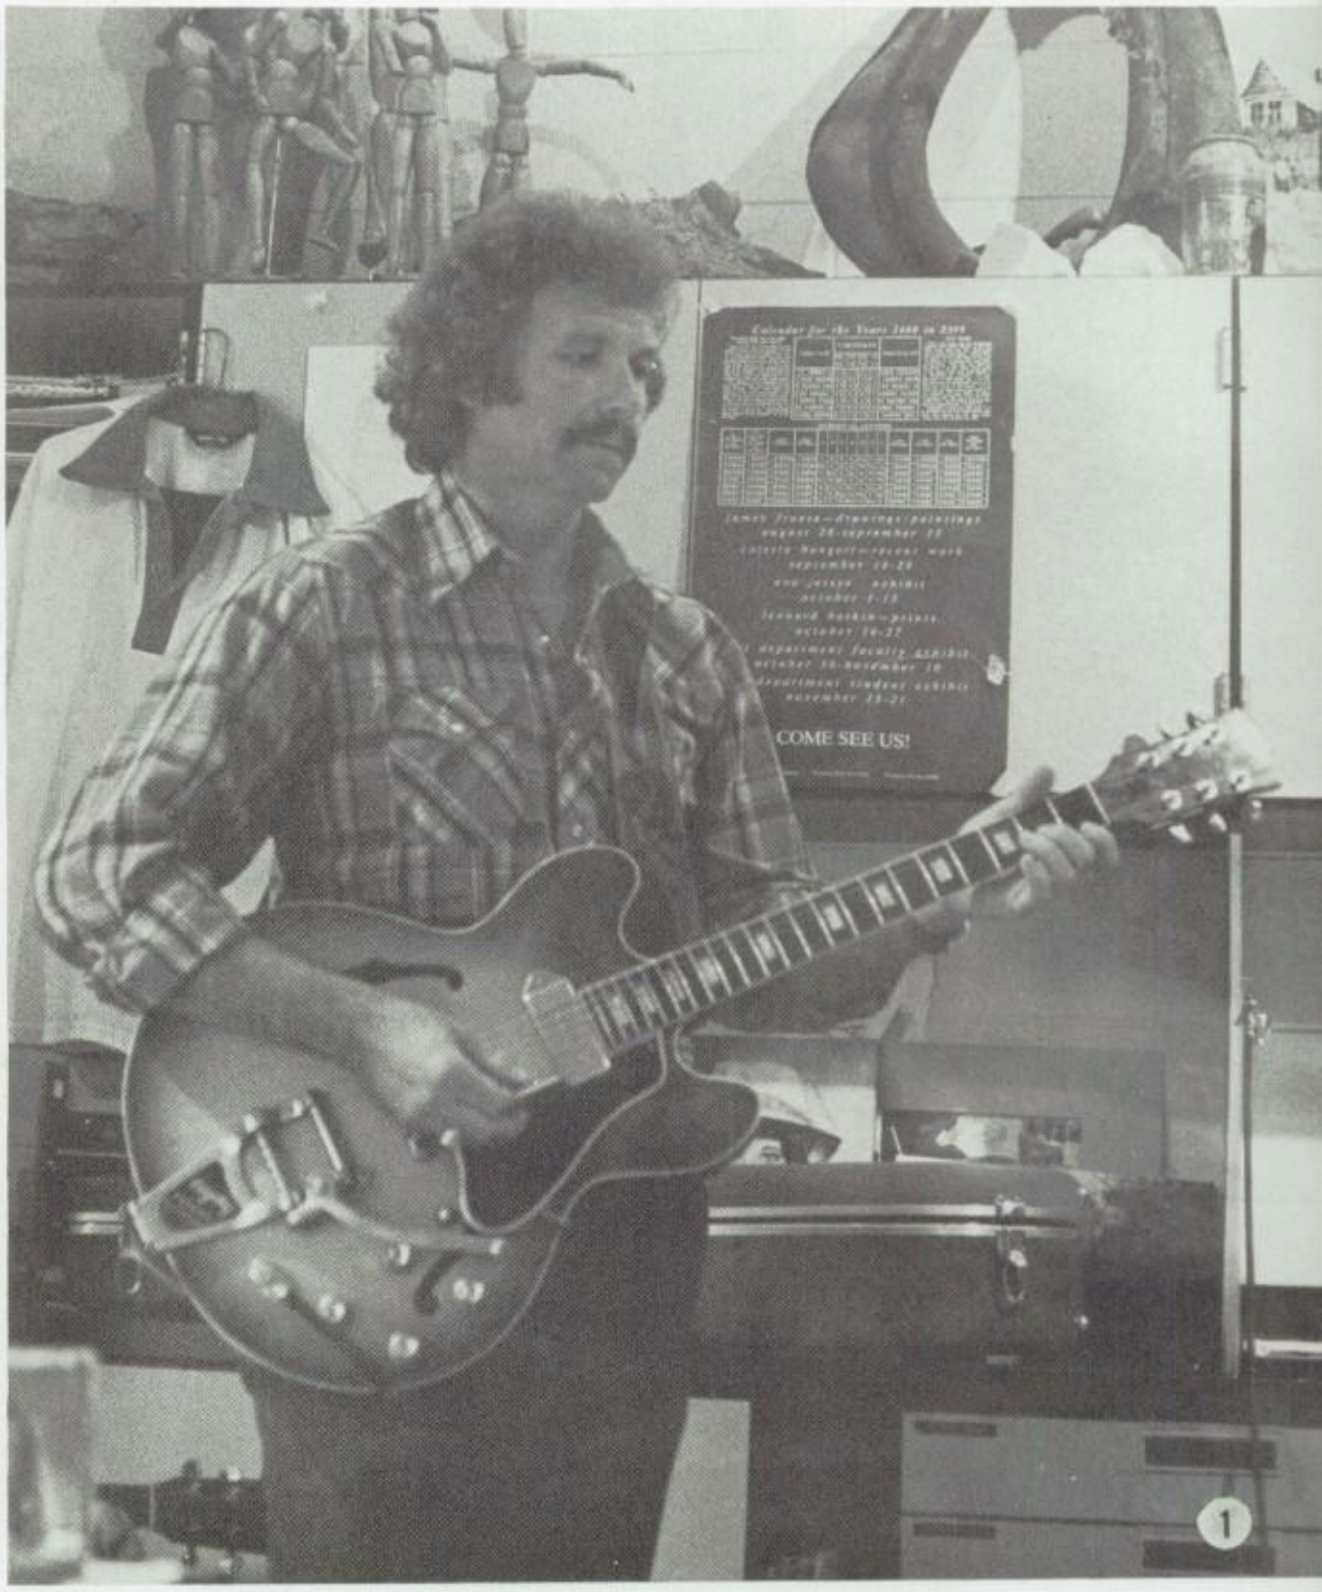
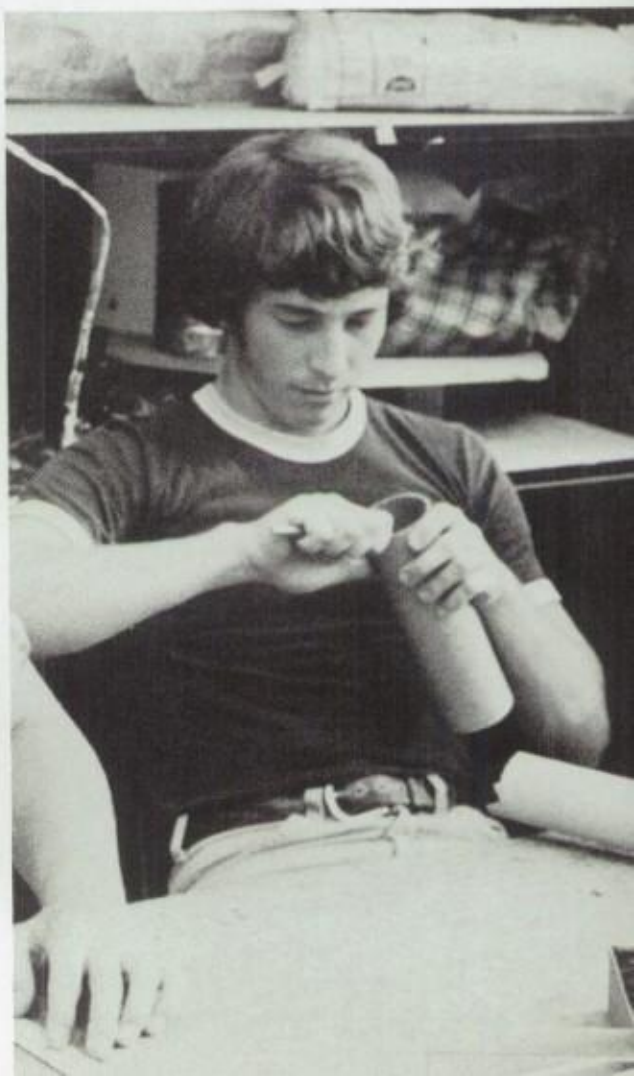
Art students go to show in Feb.

Attending the Scholastic Art Show highlighted the year for the Art Department. According to Instructor Joe Stellwagon, around one hundred art students traveled to Wichita in February for the show. The Scholastic Art Show is open to all high schoolers to enter and offers Hallmark Awards for the best two-dimensional projects.

Instructor Debbie Maxwell mentioned students who worked on special projects during the year. A metal rollercoaster was made by Roger Froelich, sr., from brass brazing rods. Ray Hotzel, sr., made glass sculptures in glassblowing, and Becky Hartzler, sr., created many classical pewter sculptures. Alan Bailey made a working electric guitar. The guitar took nine weeks to build and cost about $175.

[1] Providing music for interested students during his prep hour is Jerry Troxell, art instructor. [2] Working on their paper projects for Intro to 2-D are Sophomores Debbie Brown and Shana Bollinger. [3] Brian Hanson, soph., Randall Hoch, soph., create a huge paper man.





Enrollment higher in Music Department

Enrollment was noticeably higher in most music classes. David Hodges, band instructor, said total band enrollment was up ten people. In stage band the size doubled. Concert Choir increased from forty people to seventy. The KMEA All-State Choir had twelve people, with two alternates from Emporia. Don Kile, orchestra instructor, added that enrollment in orchestra had risen to forty-five.

New equipment acquired by the marching band included a new set of marching drums and new flags. Band members participated in two band days at Lawrence and ESU, and an overnight marching contest at Hays.

Symphonic and concert bands played eight numbers at a January 18 concert. Symphonic band performed another concert April 18 and concert band gave one May 17. All the bands played at the state contest in April and hosted their own band clinic in March.

Mixed ensemble and stage band played together for the first time. Thirteen of the Chorale students and three Emporia High graduates participated in a concert tour of Europe, sponsored by Voyageures International.

Orchestra went to district orchestra in December, all-state orchestra in February and the state music festival in April. They also took a trip to Pittsburg State.

Science trips are major activities

Field trips were the main activities for the science department. On November 9, John Harclerode's and Frank Nelson's biology classes traveled to Eureka. Students visited Cheyenne Bottoms, the Maxwell Game Reserve and the Great Bend Zoo. The students observed migratory water foul like ducks, geese and pelicans.

Approximately 15 students attended a Science Workshop at Emporia State University on October 10. Students participated in five action labs and discussed water pollution and the laws governing it.

John Riley's Geology class also traveled to Eureka and Neal, Kansas. Students searched for fossils among the rocks of these sites.

Students compete in math contest

Nineteen math students and Math Club members attended the Math Day October 30 at Emporia State University. The students participated in both team and individual competition. Individual competition was divided into sections of Algebra I, Algebra II, Geometry and Trigonometry. Three divisions were included in the team competition: Algebra, Geometry and Trigonometry. Students who didn't participate in the competition attended mini-computer demonstrations, saw the Earth Science Museum, the Schmidt Natural History Museum, science demonstrations or toured the Physics and Chemistry labs.

According to Department Head Gene Tibbetts, the newly purchased mini-computer was used in the advanced math class. Students studied a programing unit using the computer. "It was used for tutoring students having problems with any type of math," he added.

Alterations many in language arts

Curriculum changes stirred controversy in the Language Arts Department. The changes, which go into effect in 1979-80, include making Sophomore Composition and Grammar and American Literature into a year-long class. Other class changes are making Junior Composition into a semester-long class and dropping several quarter classes.

New grammar tests were adopted by the English classes. According to Department Head Delores Schwinn, the texts provided more coordination between the middle school and the high school. The books reverted to the traditional grammar, a change with which most teachers seemed to agree, according to Mrs. Schwinn. Three new teachers, Phil Thornton, Vickie Bayer and June Johnson, joined the department.

Viewing a "Monty Python" film was one change from the usual subjects covered in Mr. Thornton's College Prep classes. Sharon Stephens said that the things her College Prep class would remember best were reading "Beowulf," "Canterbury Tales," and Oedipus Rex, writing the two-day essay and, of course, writing the research papers.

"Never Too Late" and the children's play, "Winnie the Pooh," were presentations of the drama classes. Stagecraft class members designed all sets for the plays and also for the musical, "Bye, Bye, Birdie."

Foreign languages add new teacher

Class-related projects provided variety for the foreign lauguage classes.

Visiting France this spring highlighted the year for most French II, III and IV classes and Sponsor Jim Knott. Mr. Knott, a new teacher here, taught the French classes and Spanish I. The French III class produced a play, "La Farce de Maitre Paphelin," for the other French classes. The play, set in the middle ages, was about a clothesmaker and how he got revenge on a shady lawyer.

Spanish class also tried their hand at acting when they created different commercials and plays, all in Spanish. They also tried cooking a little Spanish food like tortillas, tostadas and burritos.

Some of the Latin students bought T-shirts that read 'Kiss Me I Speak Latin'. They celebrated the week-long Latin Christmas, Saturnalia, on December 18.

Monika Bruder, a biochemist from Germany, and Dr. Glenn Torrey, an ESU history professor, were guest speakers for the German classes. A German display window and a slide show were two of the projects the class created.

Department buys needed equipment

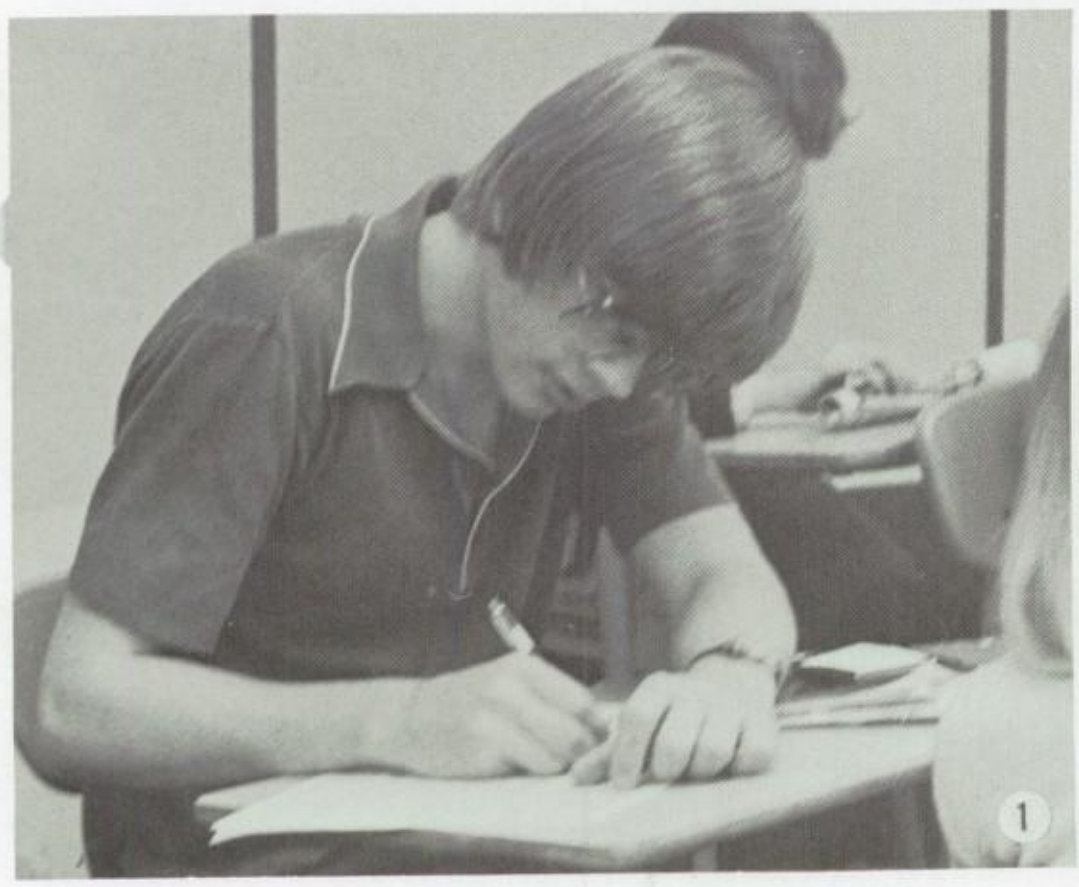
Quarter classes were combined to form new semester classes in the Business Department. Consumer Education was made into a semester class. According to instructor Larry Eudaley, the class was lengthened "to see if they can get more material covered." Mr. Eudaley's classes invited guest speakers on insurance, investments and credit, and visited grocery stores and auto dealers. They also received new texts.

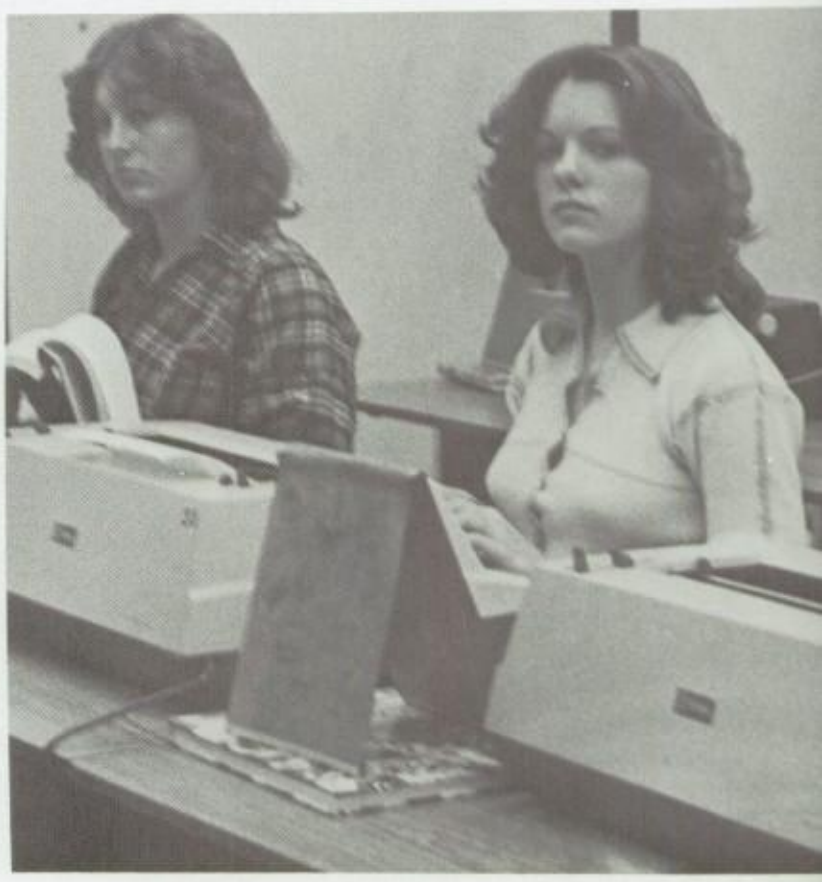
Ten new element typewriters were added for typing classes. Along with that, the department acquired new books and typing tapes. Second semester classes used workbooks that corresponded with the books. Instructor Beverly Toso said that the workbooks made it more realistic.

General business instructor Jan Bradbury felt that career exploration was the students' favorite unit. Mrs. Bradbury said that students ought to plan for their career more.

Data Processing and Calculating Machines, which were both previously quarter classes, were made into a combined semester class.

[1] Taking a test in Consumer Education is Fred McCabe, sr. [2] Juniors Krista Bailey, Cheri Wagner and Doug Buckbee work on their papers for Typing I.





Two teachers added in social studies

Two new teachers were added to the Social Studies Department. Virgil Dean took over for Jim Keller and Yvonne Whiters replaced Lyle Brecheisen.

Mr. Dean's Government class held mock elections October 18. Winners included Bill Roy for Senator and Bob Wittaker for U.S. representative. They also invited guest speakers such as Darrel Meyer, attorney and former County Court Judge, and Rosemary Spalding, the County Clerk.

Department Head Jerry Brown livened up his classes with simulation games such as the Stock-market Game and the Farmer Game. He also used more audio-visual aids in Civil War, including maps and Civil War overlays. Speakers from the County Commissioner's Office, the Health Center and ministers from various churches visited the classes.

Listening to lectures and taking notes have made this year different in Early American History, according to Instructor Tom Fowler. The class also received new texts.

Adjustments are made in P.E., Health

With the loss of last year's department head, Mike Shane, two new positions were filled in the Physical Education Department and new policies were added to the health program.

Coach Dave Hugg took over responsibility for department head and Bill Cinelli was added to the staff.

As a result of the controversy over the health program, adjustments were made. "The health program has been curtailed somewhat during this year," commented Nurse Irene Buckley.

A films committee of teachers, administrators and nurses was formed. This committee viewed all the films that were available for the use of the teachers, and committee members made a list of films that they felt were appropriate. This list was presented to the School Board, who in turn approved the film list. After the films had been approved by the Board, a letter was mailed to all parents of the district. This letter stated the names and contents of the films that could be shown.

Special Education constructs trivets

To celebrate the Christmas season the Special Education class planned a party which included the Special Education class from Lowther. Refreshments prepared by the high school class included sugar cookies and hot cocoa. Money that students earned working in the cafeteria was used to purchase gifts which were exchanged between class members.

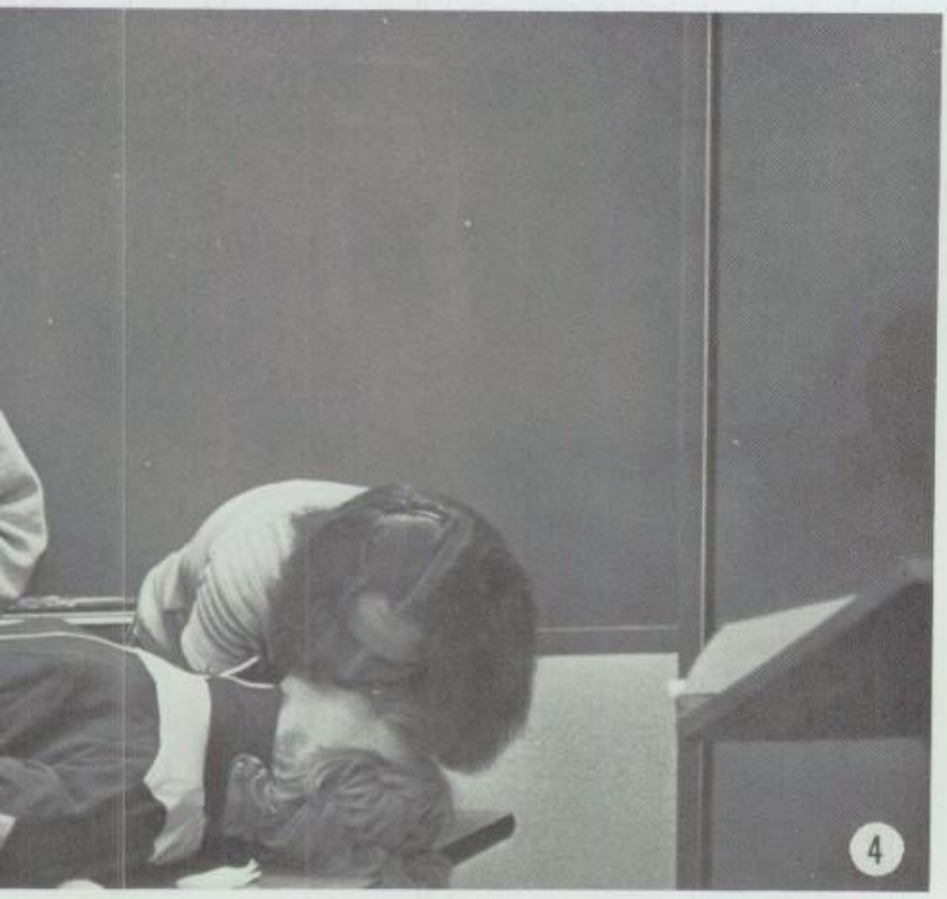
Students constructed trivets and egg carton trash cans as Christmas gifts for their parents.

Several field trips were taken, some of which included going out to eat at McDonald's, Sambo's, Country Kitchen, Ken's Pizza and Sizzling Sirloin. Students also traveled to the banks and the Public Library. Field trips were taken to help make the students more comfortable in public places.

A plant sale was a big money-making project which supported class trips to the Winter and Summer Special Olympics.

''We teach basically home-living and pre-vocational skills,'' commented Kathy Nerka, the new special education teacher.

[5] Helping earn money by stacking chairs in the Machine Commons is Junior Steve Schlotterbeck. [6] Carol Brown, jr., cares for the plants which were sold to pay the way to the Winter and Summer Special Olympics.



FINE ARTS

Hard work was demanded of Fine Arts participants, but the experiences proved rewarding for the majority of the students. Two plays, "Never Too Late" and "Winnie the Pooh," were presented by the Drama Department, and the musical performed by the Chorale was "Bye Bye Birdie". Band members enjoyed an overnight trip to a marching contest in Hays, and a second stage band was added for less advanced players. Highlighting the year for the Orchestra was a trip to Pittsburg.

'Never Too Late' presents challenge

''I'm going to have a baby,'' Edith Lambert (portrayed by Rebecca Swinney) announced to her startled family. Edith, a middle-aged woman, denoted the title of the fall play, ''Never Too Late'', by becoming pregnant at an age considered too late for motherhood.

Director Kent Chapman selected the play the previous summer during his reading. He looked for something that would present a challenge yet not be above the talents of high school acting.

''The script was excellent; it gave me a new level of understanding about myself through the personality of the character,'' said Rebecca Swinney, who played Edith Lambert. Sam Samuelson, Harry Lambert in the play, stated, ''I liked the comedy in it, although I found a middle-aged person a little difficult to portray.''

According to Mr. Chapman, the crew proved to be very cooperative, rendering no major difficulties during the construction of the set or the use of it in the performance. ''I was very pleased with the way the set turned out,'' remarked Sharon Collinge, props crew head.

Edith, the over-worked housewife, became the cause of a revolution in the Lambert house, when Harry Lambert insisted on a lighter load of work for his wife. The housework was then turned over to their daughter, Kate, who felt that she should be pregnant instead of her mother.

Harry, owner of one of the town's two major lumber yards, allowed Edith to fix up a nursery. Given the opportunity, Edith began remodeling a major portion of the house. Raging over their wives' sudden change of behavior, Harry and Charlie became terribly drunk, causing trouble with the mayor. The play ended with both couples happily reunited.

In the 1960's, "Never Too Late" hit the movie screens starring Connie Stevens.

Attendance good; Program enjoyed

"Our cast had a good time doing the musical, so the audience had a good time watching it," commented Director Don Grant. According to Mr. Grant, casting aided in selecting the musical "Bye, Bye, Birdie" because the people he had available fit the characters in the production.

"The choreography was pretty easy," stated Lori VanSickle (Rosie Alvarez). "It helped me to learn the songs." Brenda Jordon of Jordon's Studio of Art helped teach the choreographed parts. Such steps as pivot turns and choreographed dramatic movement were used consistently throughout the program. In the number entitled "Happy Face," a grapevine step was used. "This has been the best high school group I've worked with," Miss Jordon remarked.

"It was a lot of work, but after it's over you look back and it's worth it," stated Clark Greenlee, set designer. There were 18 scenes all set on rollers for easy maneuverability.

Snow played an active part in rehearsal time for the musical. Several practices were canceled due to snow, but extra rehearsal time was made available due to school cancellation.

The orchestra improved over previous years, according to Mr. Grant. "Orchestra always has difficult passages, but I feel they did very well on them."

"The character was hard to get into," remarked Todd Mullendore, who played Conrad Birdie. Todd's costume was made by Instructor Wanda Preston with the help of Stella Slaybaugh (Nancy in the musical) and Mary Hopkins, who was in the Adult Chorus.

As the story begins, Albert Peterson (Paul Frederickson) and Rosie Alvarez (Lori VanSickle) devise a plan to get rich when Conrad Birdie, a young rock star, goes into the army. They draw a fan's name at random and Conrad bestows his final kiss on this teenage girl, Kim MacAfee (Leona Fowler), on television. However, Kim struggles with the conflict between her steady boyfriend, Hugo Peabody (Tim Coen), and her fascination for Conrad. The tension mounts, and living becomes hectic for everyone involved, but all ends on a happy note when Albert announces his intentions to marry Rosie, and Hugo and Kim announce their engagement.

Mr. Grant estimated attendance to be about 1300 for both evening performances.

Singers present concert programs

Singing on television in Topeka and taking part in the State Music Festival were among the many activities that the Chorale participated in, according to Don Grant, director of Chorale, Mixed Ensemble, Girls' Ensemble and Treble Choir.

Performing in Emporia's First Annual Christmas Parade was something new for both Mr. Grant and the Chorale. "Everyone enjoyed it and said they would like to do it again," stated Mr. Grant. "The Christmas Program was also pleasant for us, one reason being that the appearance of the auditorium was the nicest it's ever been during a Christmas Program."

Mixed Ensemble also sang in places around the community. Twice they sang at United Way dinners, once in September and once in November. They performed at several Christmas time engagements and sang at the Job's Daughters Initiation in January.

Girls' Ensemble sang in the Fall Concert. They also had several Christmas time engagements and performed in the Kayette Variety Show.

Twelve Chorale members made the All-State Choir. Sopranos were Tina Plank, sr., Stella Slaybaugh, sr., and Brenda White, sr. Altos included Leona Fowler, sr., Tracey Nelson, jr., Dianna Penner, sr., Kelly Utley, soph., Lori VanSickle, sr., and Lynette White, soph. Basses were Paul Frederickson, sr., Jay Adkins, sr., and David Sleezer, sr. The two alternates chosen were George Anderson, sr., and Doug Hoffman, sr., both basses.

Concert Choir increases membership; Performances many for Treble Choir

"Working with such a large group is hard on the director," stated Director Maxine Mitchell. "I like having so many kids in singing, though."

Membership in Concert Choir rose to 71 with only three upperclassmen.

Concert Choir participated in the Fall Vocal Concert October 18, the Christmas Program December 18 and 19, and the Spring Concert April 27. The favored number in the Fall Concert was a song entitled "Follow the Sun."

"Of the performances, the Christmas Program was our most outstanding," stated Director Don Grant. Other performances with Treble Choir were the Fall Vocal Concert October 18, State Music Festival April 6 and the Spring Concert May 11.

"This is a fine group of girls. I really enjoy working with them," commented Mr. Grant. "They are a talented and cooperative group."

"Girls' Choir was a good experience for everyone in it," remarked

Marching Spartans perform at contest

Riding across midwestern Kansas roads on Continental Trailways buses, the Marching Spartans made their way to the Hays Marching Contest October 27, where they received a two rating.

"This was the best performance we've had as a band," remarked David Hodges, band director, "The behavior of the kids was super." Drill team performed for a two-plus rating in the contest.

Band members achieved small highlights within the season through attendance at "band days" sponsored by KU and ESU. Each day began with a prearranged parade of members participating in the workshop. To climax the days, band members cheered for their favored teams in afternoon football games before heading home.

The one hundred ten marchers performed for pre-game and half-time at each home game. More color and variety were brought into the show with the addition of a rifle team. Emporia is one of three schools within the state having a rifle team. Several drum solos were featured during the season with the new drums acquired.

Summer practices began in July to utilize time for a better performance. Attendance at these preliminary practices was generally favorable according to the director. Mr. Hodges hopes in the future to plan several summer shows.

"The support of the band is 100% better than ever," said Mr. Hodges. Parents contributed greatly to the success of the band. They helped provide essential funds for trips and gave moral support by turning out in large numbers for each performance.

Nell,

Well, one more year is over — Can you believe we're almost Juniors? wow! (it's kind of scary) It's been fun being with you this year in French (for awhile), Biology (silly Mr. Nelson!), and our super crazy gym class.

Hope you had a great year and an even better summer. Hope to see ya some!

Luv,
Dana

11 go to District; Band attends clinic

Being chosen as one of only four bands from the state to attend the Wichita Invitational Band Clinic was one honor for the Symphonic Band. Although bad weather conditions forced the band to leave the clinic early, it was still a learning experience. The band spent rehearsal time working with Claude Smith, a famous composer for band music. They also presented a short concert and had the opportunity to hear other groups.

Eleven band members were selected for the District Band. This was the largest number of band students ever chosen from Emporia High. "Those students represented nearly every section of the band and are indicative of the overall improvement of the band program," remarked Band Director David Hodges. Andy Badeker (trumpet) was chosen to play in the All-State Orchestra and Pam Haselhuhn (bass clarinet) and John Ericson (French horn) participated in the All-State Band.

Traditional activities played an active part in the Spartan Band schedule. The Symphonic Band, Concert Band and State Band I participated in their annual band clinic March 13 and 14 featuring clinicians Robert Foster (Director of Bands at KU), Jim Barnes (low brass), Ron McCurdy (trumpet), Bob Duffer (woodwinds), and Jay Wanamaker (percussion).

"Our band program has improved at a fast pace," Band Director David Hodges commented, "establishing tradition, pride and goals for future Spartan Band members to aim for: namely, a continued excellence in both learning and performing."

Directors praise groups' abilities

To most students, Stage Band is famous for playing at basketball games and pep assemblies. Actually, there are many more activities that they participate in each year.

Beginning the year with their Fall Concert, they later played at a Kayette dinner on January 18. Mr. David Hodges, Stage Band director, commented that playing at a college basketball game was also a possibility.

The highlight for Stage Band in the spring was the Jazz Festival at KU on March 10. In the competition, different individuals win awards for their musical abilities.

Since there are two different Stage Bands, Stage Band I and Stage Band II, there are two different practice hours. Mr. Hodges said that this is good because it gives people extra time to work on a secondary instrument. That was helpful for Lori Williams, jr., and John Ecklund, jr., who made the All-Stage Jazz Band.

Mr. Hodges mentioned only one problem with Stage Band. "Kids come from the Middle School with no jazz band experience, and that creates a problem sometimes. But otherwise, Stage Band is very enjoyable."

Like Stage Band, Orchestra gives several performances a year. Orchestra presented three concerts, not including the concerts they gave for several elementary schools.

Orchestra played an important part in the Christmas Program, provided the instrumental music for the musical "Bye, Bye, Birdie," and played for Baccalaureate and Commencement. On April 8, they took part in the State Music Festival.

Eight string players were in the All-State Orchestra: Richard Wright, who was the Concert Master, Kaaren Fleischer, Mary Garcia, who was Principle Second Violin, Ellen Ciurczak, Mitch Faddis, Patricia Hart, Bruce Hart and Brenton Bennett.

CLUBS

Nineteen clubs and organizations kept students involved throughout the year. The most common activities for clubs included money-making projects, parties and trips. Several groups participated in a homecoming mini-float contest sponsored by StuCo. Kayettes enjoyed a Father-Daughter Banquet. FBLA members talked to local businessmen to learn about the free enterprise system while Spartan Club members tried to boost school spirit. Efforts of Math Club and Model UN were directed at preparing for various competitions.

Daughters invite fathers to banquet

The Father-Daughter Banquet, January 22, was a highlight on the Kayette calendar. "I hope the Father-Daughter Banquet will become a tradition," commented Lendi Grimsley, president of Kayettes.

Kayette members invited their fathers for a night out to enjoy fried chicken and music by the EHS Stage Band. After dinner, Dr. Kala Stroup, Vice-President of Academic Affairs at Emporia State, spoke to the group. She explained that women in the late high school to early college years are taught not to compete for grades against men opponents. Because of this, women tend to settle for less than their goals when it comes to a career choice. She also encouraged fathers to support their daughters in their career choice.

Another highlight was the WPA (women pay all) Disco Dance on March 24.

For a back to school get-together, members were invited to a "bring a friend and a banana" picnic August 23. Kayettes also kidnapped freshmen and served them ice cream sundaes August 30.

Members planned the Kayette Variety Show September 27, helped at the Kayette-StuCo Sponsor Conference on September 29 and gave administrators and teachers apples at the beginning of the school year and coffee mugs for Christmas.

Kayette members enjoyed trick-or-treating for Unicef in October and a caroling party in December. Several members helped with the Bloodmobile in November and February. Holly was sold again in November. Lendi Grimsley, Kathy Koweski, Pam Hughes, Denise Harrington, Karen Schoenberger and Kim Henery sold over $100 worth of holly and garlands in the Holly contest.

Spartan Club sponsors many spirit days

Spartan Club sponsored the Pigskin Dance, choosing the theme "Dream On" and featuring the band "Cloud Burst." Colors were silver and blue, with cloud centerpieces at the tables.

"Feeding" athletes was a major project for the club. Members gave popsicles to the football players after a hard practice and presented cookies and cupcakes to the women's volleyball and basketball teams. Members also decorated lockers of the basketball team members.

Spartan Club members encouraged the student body to participate in "Spook'em Day," "50's Day, "Cowboy Day," Nursery School Day," "Overalls Day" and "Suspend'em Day." A few members wrote the spirit activities on blackboards before school during the week of the activity.

At the beginning of the school year, Spartan Club sponsored a dance at Lowther Middle School South after the first football game. They also conducted the Queen of Court ceremonies at the basketball game March 2.

StuCo members make good progress; President happy with accomplishments

Installing a new popcorn machine for the concession stand and keeping trash in the building to a minimum were among the activities that occupied Student Council members.

Since the behavior of the student body during some assemblies was poor, StuCo tried to encourage students to be quieter and more respectful.

Student Council President DeAnna Koch, sr., helped work on the problem of closing the vending machines. The machines were closed because the Kansas State Department of Education ruled that the contents of the machines were non-nutritional. Candy, carbonated beverages, gum and frozen desserts were removed.

Other activities included a book drop for the library in the spring and decorating the main hall Christmas tree.

"The most beneficial thing about StuCo was their good attitude," stated DeAnna Koch, StuCo President. "I think they have a much better outlook than in past years."

StuCo carried out the new idea of choosing a StuCo Member of the Month. Andy Hoffmans, sr., Fred Polzin, soph., and DeAnna Koch, sr., were among the StuCo members given this honor.

A pizza party highlighted December and StuCo planned a spring retreat. In October they sponsored a homecoming float contest.

S.A.F.E. members discuss problems

Problems that the Student Administration Faculty Examiner committee dealt with were having photographers take senior pictures at school and the closing of the vending machines. The S.A.F.E. committee was organized to provide a way for both students and faculty members to get together in a situation outside of school and discuss common school problems. S.A.F.E. members met once a month at noon at the Holiday Inn.

Principal Norman Reynolds felt that communications on the S.A.F.E. committee were good. "I think it is a better operation, where students and staff are on the same level. More factual information about school problems gets out to the student body."

Among the faculty members on the S.A.F.E. committee were Mr. Reynolds, Jerry Baumgardner, Robert Lodle and Eileen Peoples. DeAnna Koch, sr., Lendi Grimsley, sr., and Dianna Penner, sr., were three of the students involved in S.A.F.E.

Camp Alexander FBLA party site

"Headless horseman?" The legendary figure struck at the FBLA Halloween party October 30. Actually, the goblin was a "headless horsewoman," portrayed by Georgeanna Anderson and her horse.

The party, which was at Camp Alexander, was co-hosted with the Industrial Arts Club. Members participated in costume contests, scavenger hunts and told ghost stories.

Mork and Mindy, Sherlock Holmes and a Corvette salad bar were some of the most fascinating assets included at Oklahoma City's Molly Murphy's restaurant visited by FBLA members. Twenty-four people represented Emporia at the Oklahoma FBLA conference, which was sponsored by the Leadership Development Institute.

New state officers were elected at the State conference April 9-10. Gretchen Fisher ran for president and Sylvia Creswell ran for Region I vice-president. Members attended a banquet with an awards ceremony for installation of new officers and a disco dance.

Ind. Arts parties at Lake Kahola

Sailboat races and swimming were the main activities which the Industrial Arts Club members participated in at their party at Lake Kahola on October 5. The party site was a cabin owned by President Penny Mains' parents.

Industrial Arts members traveled to Topeka and toured the Buick-Pontiac Company and the Goodyear Company. Members also toured Modine Manuf., Sauder Ind., Iowa Beef and Hopkins of Emporia, and several industries of Wichita.

October 30 members co-hosted a Halloween party with FBLA members at Camp Alexander. Members participated in a costume contest, seances and telling ghost stories.

Cutting boards were made during the Christmas season and sold at ten to fifteen dollars apiece. The cutting boards were constructed of walnut and pine.

According to President Penny Mains, membership was higher than last year, but the club had a lack of participation by the members. "We had a lack of communication because of only one meeting a month, but the Industrial Arts Club, itself, really has a lot of potential," commented Penny.

Club makes float, raises park funds

Besides the fun and parties that most clubs have, MAISO has taken part in some serious activities.

In autumn they raised $150 to donate to the development of Las Casitas Park, and in January a speaker from the Mexican Baptist Church came and spoke to the club about the importance of Mexican education.

MAISO planned some money-making projects, which included working at the concession stand at the first basketball game and having a concession stand at a party on Mexican Independence Day.

"They've done quite a bit in comparison to what they've done in the past," commented Tom Fowler, MAISO sponsor.

MAISO members entered a float in the homecoming float contest, and a picnic and party were planned for spring.

BSO club meets with new sponsor

Although Black Student Organization's activities have been limited, they did have a new addition to their club, their sponsor Yvonne Whiters.

The majority of BSO's activities were done during their regular meetings and discussions, but they did plan some other activities outside their meetings. They planned to obtain a set of books about famous Black literary people for the library, and a dance and party were planned for later in the year.

BSO members were going to work at a concession stand at one of the basketball games, but there were complications, so the students did not work.

Even though it was a slow year, the club plans to add new activities as well as new club members next year.

Conservation lacks club participation

"This was a slow year for the Backpacking, Wildlife and Conservation Club, mainly because of the lack of participation by a large majority of the club," commented President Fred McCabe.

Members participated in the traditional money making projects which included selling plants, paper logs and trees. The club collected plants during the fall before the first frost and planted them in pots. The plants were sold to make about twenty dollars for the club treasury.

During the winter months, members made paper logs in their spare time. Each log was sold for twenty cents apiece. The money which was made by the club will be used for future trips and hikes. "We would like to reduce the cost of trips with the money raised," explained President Fred McCabe. The club also sold trees during the spring. Walnut, spruce and pine were included in the types of trees sold.

During their bi-weekly meetings, members discussed plans to take their almost-annual summer trip to the mountains.

"I feel that next year will be a much better year for the club, and I'm sorry I can't be here to see it grow back into the club it once was," commented Fred.

Math Club attends Math Day at ESU

Conducting a paper drive, selling mums at the Homecoming Dance and selling concessions at basketball games and wrestling meets were all ways Math Club raised money. The club made over $600 and bought new tapes and a printer for their mini-computer. They also bought supplies for the Math Department.

Three guest speakers lectured to the club. Dr. John Burger lectured on probability, statistics and game theory. Dr. George Downing spoke on non-Euclidian geometry and Trevor Lewis talked about mathematical needs in architecture.

Twenty-five members of Math Club attended Math Day at Emporia State University September 30. In April, about 25 members traveled to Math Day in Pittsburg.

Member wins individual delegate award

Disarmament, human rights and terrorism were just three of the issues discussed by Model United Nations members.

The Friends Conference at Friends University in Wichita was the high point of the year according to Sponsor Virgil Dean. Students represented Brazil and Kuwait at the March 22 conference. Four students representing the U.S. and Kuwait attended an ESU Security Council Conference February 14. At the November 1 conference, four countries, Brazil, Nigeria, Jamaica and Kenya were represented. This was the first time that all the United Nations were present. An individual delegate award was presented to Terry Kidwell, sr. The award is given to an individual who has done an outstanding job.

"It's been a good experience for me," said first-year sponsor, Mr. Dean. "I've enjoyed working with the students and feel the experience I've gained from this type of activity is very valuable."

Senior members spark Forensics

Two first places during the early part of the season provided incentive for the Forensics squad. Tim Coen won the oratory competition at the Manhattan tournament, and Lori VanSickle won the poetry division at Highland Park. By March 15, Tim Coen had placed in at least one event in every tournament he had entered.

Students had been in the finals and placed at every tournament through March 15. "We have competed well," commented Coach Albert Higgins.

Approximately thirty people composed the Forensics squad. Seniors Tim Coen, Melanie Matheny, Debbie Meinholdt, Sam Samuelson and Lori VanSickle led the group, a mixture of underclassmen and seniors.

Forensics members competed at the National Forensic League District Tournament March 24 to qualify for Nationals, June 24-27 in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Debaters perform well in tournaments

Emporia Spartan Debaters capped a very successful season with a sixth place finish at the class 6A State Debate Tournament.

Led by seniors Melanie Matheny, Debbie Meinholdt, Tim Coen, Terri Kidwell, Sam Samuelson and Becky Hartzler, the Spartans compiled an impressive list of triumphs during the regular season, according to Coach Albert Higgins. Emporia started the season with a second and fourth place finish at Kansas City Sumner Academy and followed that with a near sweep of top honors at Springfield, Missouri's Kickapoo High School.

At Kickapoo; the Spartans won the regular division title, finished second in the Championship division, had the top speaker in the regular division and the second top speaker in the Championship section. Later in the season, Emporia repeated as champions of the J.C. Harmon and Great Bend tournaments, while placing high in the tournaments at Pittsburgh, Lawrence and at Ponca City, Oklahoma.

Emporia debaters finished in the top ten places in tournaments seventeen times during the 1978-79 debate season.

Club sells art work, travels to Wichita

Topping the list of activities for Black Market members were the art sale and the Scholastic Art Show.

"We got off to a good start at the first of the year, finished what we had planned, and for the second part we worked on projects for the art sale and the Scholastic Art Show," commented President Mary Weaver.

Some of the items for sale at the December 9 art sale in the Flint Hills Mall included pottery, blown glass and rock paintings. Black Market made $190 from the sale.

In February, about 20 Black Market members traveled to Wichita for the Scholastic Art Show. After the show, the students went to the art gallery, then to the Art Museum. Among the art works entered in the show were pewter items, pottery, watercolors and blown glass.

"I think everybody has enjoyed Black Market," said Mary. "There's a lot of good artists around that just need a talented start."

Magazine needs material submitted

As a change of pace, ECHO CHAMBER members created pencil sketches of their impressions of the student writing submitted.

Also, instead of having students take pictures of their art work, Art Instructor Jerry Troxell took all the art work pictures.

Lettering on the ECHO CHAMBER was formed by pencils in the shape of letters. The idea came to the art editors as they were looking in a lettering book.

ECHO CHAMBER needed more material submitted. ''The response was worse in numbers, but the quality was better,'' said ECHO CHAMBER Sponsor Delores Schwinn.

Ten page newspaper sets record for staff

Publishing a ten-page ECHO set a record for the newspaper staff. Four of those pages were written by Introduction to Journalism students.

Led by co-editors Jill Bedner and Regi Harris, staffers published more six and eight-page newspapers than ever before. "In spite of the snow during January and February, we were able to get the paper out on a regular basis," said Sponsor Eileen Peoples.

Top stories included major curriculum changes, the change to 6A in sports and a story on fake I.D.'s. "I think the story we did on fake I.D.'s was the best we've ever done," said Jill.

Over the Christmas season, THE ECHO staff chipped in with the RE-ECHO staff to buy Mrs. Peoples a special sweater. They decorated the journalism Christmas tree, topping it with a special homemade star. Later, during a December 22 party, staffers exchanged gag gifts and enjoyed a donut-hole Christmas tree. Gag gifts included a "Fearless Leader" t-shirt for Jill and an embarrassing bumper sticker for Regi.

Three members of THE ECHO placed in the Kansas Scholastic Press Association (KSPA) contest in Manhattan Friday, February 16. Jill Bedner placed third in make-up, Cathy Carlson captured second in headlines and Liz Hollar placed third in feature writing.

The Emporia Gazette sponsored Jill and Regi at the K.U. School of Journalism summer camp June 9-16 where Jill won the "Outstanding Young Journalist" award. "We learned different ideas and techniques and met new and interesting people," said Regi. "We both had a blast!

RE-ECHO places five in KSPA contest

Five RE-ECHO staff members placed at the Kansas Scholastic Press Association (KSPA) contest in Manhattan Friday, February 16.

Three members came away with first place in their divisions: Pam Hughes in cutlines, Stacey Wade in body copy and Brenda Boline in graphics and special effects. Lendi Grimsley placed second in theme development and Laura Lippert captured second in graphics and special effects, helping the RE-ECHO get both first and second in that category. "I didn't really think of it as a competition. I thought of it more as a learning experience," said Stacey. "It didn't even occur to me that I would win!"

The yearbook staff participated in five divisions and placed in four.

Amy Havenhill, Karen Burns and Laura Lippert attended a workshop at Bethany College in Lindsborg July 25-27. Lendi Grimsley and Marcia Murphy traveled to a K-State journalism workshop June 5-9. "Journalism camp was a new experience for me," said Lendi. "I was really surprised at the amount of schools that didn't do their own paste-up."

Using more graphics and special effects were primary goals of the yearbook staff. "It took more time to paste down, but it makes our book more unique," said Yearbook Editor Amy Havenhill.

Choosing Josten's American Yearbook Company to print the book was a major change for the staff. "We're really pleased that we changed companies," said Advisor Eileen Peoples. "Gery Kaufman has helped us a great deal with special effects."

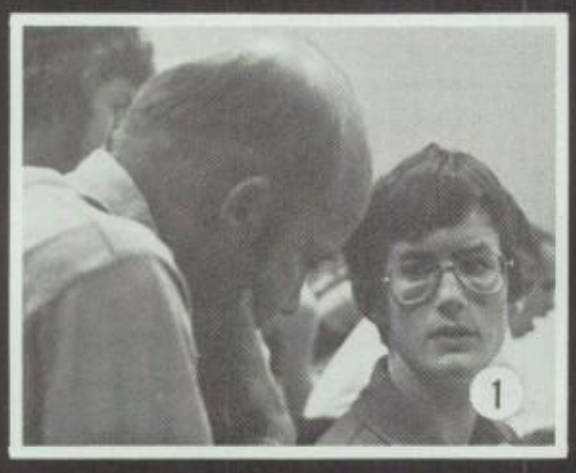
ATHLETICS



Changing to a new 6A classification greatly affected athletics at Emporia High. Previously the state had been divided into five classifications according to size, and Emporia was one of the largest schools in its division. With the new six divisions, Emporia was nearly the smallest school in the first division Therefore, they were required to compete with schools of much larger enrollment to determine the state champions in various sports. "It hurt our chances to advance past the first round at state," said Athletic Director Bob Smith.

Spartans gain Centennial League title

With nearly 75% of the varsity football starters being underclassmen, the Spartans completed a successful first season in the 6A Class. The young Spartans ended the season with a hard fought defeat at Great Bend in the 6A playoffs.

"The individuals on the team were of championship caliber and proved it by winning the Centennial League championship," said Head Coach Dave Hugg. The Centennial League title was the second title won in three years by the Spartans.

Sophomore Donny Gutierrez finished an exceptional season. He rushed for 203 yards against Leavenworth and earned honorable mention on the TOPEKA CAPITOL'S prep honor roll. Against Washburn Rural, he had 146 yards and three touchdowns and blocked a kick. This earned him state player of the week in the WICHITA EAGLE. For the year, Gutierrez had 845 yards on 139 carries for 11 touchdowns.

Quarterback Andy Hoffmans, sr., had 42 completions in 114 attempts for 761 yards. His favorite target turned out to be Marc Berry, sr., who had 18 catches for 316 yards and 3 touchdowns. Senior Bruce Blaylock also had a good year, rushing for 615 yards on 125 carries for 3 touchdowns.

The defense held the Spartans in many games until the offense could open up. Probably the best defensive game of the year was the Atchison game where the defense held the Redmen in their own territory for the entire first quarter. The defense only allowed Atchison five first downs the entire game.

"This team played as close to the best as any team I've ever had," concluded Coach Hugg.

Emporia 24 Salina Central 14

Hoffmans combined with Blaylock for nearly 300 yards rushing to lead the Spartans over Salina Central. The Spartans had 312 yards of rushing on 47 carries. Meirowsky returned an interception 18 yards for the first Emporia touchdown. Hoffmans had 2 touchdowns on runs of 53 and 8 yards. Smith had the other 6 points on a field goal of 24 yards and 3 extra points.

Emporia 6 Ottawa 0

Emporia High's defense was the difference in the Spartans' victory over Ottawa. The defense sacked the Ottawa quarterback 4 times for 17 yards, forced 10 incomplete passes and intercepted 1, allowing Ottawa 150 yards of total offense in the game. Emporia was held to only 185 yards, all of them on the ground, but Hoffmans, the quarterback, scored on an 8-yard run for the deciding margin.

Emporia 32 Seaman 21

Emporia High got its first Centennial League victory in the game which was figured to be a defensive struggle but was actually far from it. The Spartans had 354 yards of total offense, 264 of it on the ground. Hoffmans had a 60-yard touchdown run for the first touchdown of the game. Blaylock had two touchdown plunges, one of 1 yard and another for 2. Gutierrez had a touchdown run of 34 yards and Berry had the first score in the air of the year on an 8-yard pass from Hoffmans.

Emporia 15 Shawnee Heights 8

E-High could do little in the first half as the game was played in a driving rain, but when the rain ceased in the second half, the Spartans were able to open up their offense. Hoffmans went to the air 16 times in the second half, completing 10 for 146 yards. Split-end Berry caught 6 of them for 110 yards. Longbine caught a 5-yard pass from Hoffmans for E-High's first score. The Spartans repeated the play for a 2-point conversion. Hoffmans got the winning touchdown for Emporia on a 1-yard quarterback keeper and Smith kicked the extra point for the win.

Emporia 27 Atchison 6

The Emporia offense complimented the defense as Emporia gained 291 yards of total offense and allowed only 165 yards and 5 first downs for Atchison despite many injuries to Emporia starters. Quarterback Hoffmans scored on the second play of the game on an 84-yard run. Gutierrez had a 4-yard diving touchdown at the end of the first quarter and a 2-yard run for a score at the beginning of the fourth quarter. The defense held Atchison in their own territory for nearly the entire first period.

Emporia 21 Leavenworth 3

With the defense holding Leavenworth to just 8 first downs and only 116 total yards, the Spartans ran their league record to 3-0 with the homecoming victory. Gutierrez had his best rushing night of the season, running 31 times for 203 yards. The Spartans needed a good night out of Gutierrez because regular fullback Blaylock was out with a knee injury. Hoffmans scored the first E-High touchdown with a 1-yard run after a 92-yard march in just 9 plays. A 12-yard touchdown pass from Hoffmans to Berry in the corner of the end zone accounted for Emporia's second score. Gutierrez scored the final E-High touchdown by powering over from the one. Smith added all 3 extra point conversions.

Emporia 27 Washburn Rural 12

The Spartan defense again shone through in the Washburn Rural game. The whole defensive line recorded at least one sack of the Rural quarterback. Gutierrez again had an outstanding game, gaining 142 yards on the ground and catching one pass for 45 yards. He also blocked a key extra point, allowing E-High to keep its lead and control the game. An 18-yard pass from Hoffmans to Berry opened the Spartan scoring. Then Hoffmans and Gutierrez connected on the 45-yard pass for Emporia's second score. Gutierrez then scored two touchdowns on the ground, one from the 2-yard line and the other on an 18-yard run, to ice the victory for the Spartans.

Emporia 14 Hayden 21

Emporia High suffered its first loss of the season, mostly due to fumbles. Hayden scored 2 of its touchdowns directly after E-High fumbles. Emporia scored its first touchdown on a 1-yard plunge in the first period. Emporia nearly scored 2 more times but fumbled near the goal line. Gutierrez blocked a punt and Hoffmans scored from the one. The Spartans got the ball back but ran out of time before they could score and Hayden came away with the win.

Emporia 24 Highland Park 14

Emporia got back on the winning track by beating the Highland Park Scots, winning the Centennial League Title and qualifying for the 6A State Playoffs. The league championship was the second for E-High in the last three years. Emporia High took the ball away from the Scots and marched 89 yards for Gutierrez to score from the 2. In the second quarter, Hoffmans scored from the 12. Later, the E-High defense held the Scots and the offense roared 80 yards for Emporia's third touchdown. In the third quarter, Smith added a 28-yard field goal to his 3 extra point conversions to bring the E-High scoring to a close. The Spartans ended league play with a 5-1 mark.

Emporia 21 Great Bend 31

In the very first 6A playoffs, Emporia High was beaten but not embarrassed by a large and powerful Great Bend team. Great Bend took advantage of having an icy gale of a wind at its back and scored 3 touchdowns in the third period. It seemed like an impossible task to come back, but the Spartans started to, then ran out of time. Emporia scored its first touchdown in the opening period, against the wind, on a fourth-down pass of 14 yards from Hoffmans to Anderson. This capped a 74-yard drive. Blaylock scored on a 7-yard run in the fourth quarter to start E-High's comeback. Hoffmans and Gutierrez joined up on an 11-yard pass play for the rest of Emporia's scoring. Smith kicked the extra point after the first touchdown and Hoffmans ran for a 2-point conversion after Blaylock's score, but was stopped on the try for point after the last touchdown, eliminating any hope E-High had. Emporia ended the season with an 8-2 mark.

Young junior varsity has difficult year

Ending a tough year, the junior varsity football squad recorded a 1-6 season.

Defense held the team together according to Coach Jay Ternes. Linebackers John Dungan, jr., and Tim Meirowsky, sr., and Spartan back Mario Tabares, soph., led the defensive squad.

A young offense, mostly composed of sophomores, could not generate much of a scoring threat. However, the J.V. added great depth to the varsity, especially on the special teams and "was a good playing experience for the sophomores and juniors," according to Coach Ternes.

The team was quarterbacked by Jerry Heidebrecht, soph. Other offensive standouts were runningback Meirowsky, split end David Anderson, jr., and tackle Steve Schulte, jr.

Defensive Coach Bob Spinner and offensive Coach Terry Westbrook assisted Coach Ternes.

Total effort helps sophomore team

"We steadily improved through the year, with our best show against Hayden in the last game of the season," said a proud Head Sophomore Coach Terry Westbrook.

The team ended the season 4-3, with victories over Council Grove, Seaman, Newton and Hayden. "All the victories were a team effort and all the games were close except the Shawnee Heights game," said Coach Westbrook.

The sophomore team had a tough schedule with only two home games. "This sophomore team, along with the sophomores with varsity experience, should add to the winning tradition of Emporia High football," concluded Coach Westbrook.

Frosh go through frustrating season

"We played well enough to win, but most of the breaks went the other way," said Head Freshman Coach Jerry Troxell about the freshman football season.

The team ended a frustrating season with a 1-6 record. After winning the first game of the season against El Dorado, the team just couldn't quite come back. Most of their losses were by one touchdown or less.

According to Coach Troxell, one of the main reasons for the losses was a lack of size on the team. "But what we lacked in size we made up for in desire," concluded Coach Troxell.

Varsity captures second in Sub-State

Claiming second place in both Sub-State and Centennial League topped off a successful season for the women's varsity volleyball team.

Rolling by Salina Central 15-5, 11-15, 15-1 and being defeated by Manhattan 12-15, 15-10, 11-15 enabled the team to take second place. Losing only to Shawnee Heights in league standing, the Spartans completed the season with a 5-1 record.

Traveling to Highland Park on September 5 and taking first place began the Spartans' successful season. They defeated Hiawatha 6-15, 15-12, 15-5 and then dropped Highland Park 15-5, 15-8 in a Centennial League match.

On September 12 the team defeated Hayden and Atchison to remain undefeated at 4-0. According to Coach Harold Rains, Dana Ginavan and Penni Wright paced the Spartans.

Another accomplishment was capturing first place at the Wichita East Invitational on September 16. The Spartans dropped Hays, Wichita Southeast and Wichita Kapaun to lead a field of 8 teams.

Winning six straight matches in straight sets enabled the Spartans to take first place at the Highland Park Invitational. Trailing 12-5 in the second match against Shawnee Heights, the Spartans finally won when Joi Ralston served 10 straight points. "We played our best ball of the season at Highland Park," said Coach Rains. "It was a gratifying win."

According to Coach Rains, the team will be losing three seniors who added height and depth. They are DeAnna Koch, Joi Ralston and Penni Wright.

The season ended with a record of 22 wins and 6 losses.

New instructor coaches junior varsity

"Change" was the word for the junior varsity women's volleyball team. First year teacher Patricia Wise became the team's coach. Formerly Coach Harold Rains coached both the varsity and junior varsity teams. "This improved the quality of our team as we had our own coach," commented Sophomore Janette Douglas.

Progression running was added to practices. "This took a lot of getting used to and at first we were very tired," stated Janet Weaver.

After each victory, a "tombstone" was placed in the P.E. area, symbolizing burial of the team they had just defeated. The score and name of the team were put on it.

For the first time in the history of the team, a tournament was added just for the junior varsity team. The tournament was held at Emporia on September 23, with the Spartans capturing first among the five teams represented.

The Spartans split two matches at Hayden on September 12. They beat Hayden 12-15, 15-10, 15-10 and then lost to Atchison 8-15, 15-9, 15-12.

Placing first at Emporia on October 14 was one highlight of the season. They dropped Leavenworth 15-12, 16-14 and Washburn Rural 16-14, 16-14.

"It was great working with the girls," said Coach Wise. "I really got to know them."

Freshmen practice drills, calisthenics

Excitement, success, frustration and disappointment all prevailed at one time or another during the freshman women's volleyball season.

According to Coach Norma Hodges, the most successful win was at Junction City on September 27. "The girls didn't give up and they covered their positions well," she stated. They defeated Junction City. 15-11, 5-15, 15-2.

After losing their opening match to Fort Riley on September 19, the Spartans bounced back to defeat them on October 17. They dropped Fort Riley 13-15, 15-12, 15-10 to win the meet.

Practices were spent on drills at the net and on serving. Running and calisthenics were also a part of the daily practices. "Practices were hard, but I feel it improved the overall quality of the team," said Freshman Sally Haskett.

Junior Jean Hamman, serving as team trainer, got the equipment ready and kept track of the score.

"Our serving improved as the season went on," explained Coach Hodges. "This was a result of our wins and teamwork. We worked together instead of playing as individuals."

Netters receive new coach, consultant

New coaches, Ruth Smith and George Milton, led the women's varsity tennis team to a second place finish in Centennial League at Seaman on October 14. Freshman Ann Flaherty led the team by taking first place in the number 2 singles. Placing third in the meet were Lendi Grimsley in the number 3 singles and Leslie Milton and Pat Hart in the number 1 doubles.

Another highlight of the season was taking first place at Seaman September 22. The Spartans won every match they played, resulting in a 15-0 score.

Taking first on the October 5 triangular at Highland Park were Ann Flaherty, Lendi Grimsley, Pat Hart, Pam Longbine and Leslie Milton. Libby Hollembeak and Michele Matile placed second. The Spartans defeated Highland Park 4-1 and Seaman 5-0.

Adapting to new changes seemed to become a regular part of life for the tennis team. Ruth Smith replaced Jim Keller as head tennis coach. A consultant, George Milton, was also added to the team. Six a.m. practices were added to afternoon ones. Morning practices consisted of drills on fundamentals and conditioning. Afternoon practices were devoted to matches.

Consultant George Milton helped the team with their basic skills and mechanics. "We had a winning season. I was very pleased with our playing ability in dual meets and tournaments," he commented. Coach Ruth Smith traveled with the Spartans and took care of the technical matters such as checking out uniforms and keeping score. "I enjoyed working with the girls and watching them progress during the season," said Coach Smith.

Golfers take fifth at 6A State Meet

Going to State has become habit forming for the women's varsity golf team. This is their third consecutive year to compete at State.

After the first day, the team was in fourth place with a score of 383. Shooting a 387 the second day allowed the team to take fifth in the State Meet held at Salina on October 26 and 27. Fourth place was missed by one stroke.

Sophomore Lisa Bradley, setting a school record, was runner-up in state for the second consecutive year with a score of 77-82 for a total of 159. "It was an honor to take second in State," commented Lisa.

Regionals was held at Overland Park on October 17 with the top four teams going to State. The Spartans, shooting a total of 373, tied for third with Shawnee Mission South. In a playoff with 12 players battling it out, the Spartans lost by one stroke.

The Spartans traveled to Salina on September 15 to defeat Salina Central 14-13 in match play. The 4-man team shot a 350 to set a new record. Other scores were Judy Skillett 86, Karen Burns 93 and Becky Hartzler 95. Players on the 2-man team consisted of Sheryl Garrett and Margaret Woodbury.

"Not only were they in the top teams in the state as golfers, but they are also super girls," commented Coach Lawrence Eudaley.

The Spartans completed a successful year by capturing three first places, three second places, setting three school records and having Lisa Bradley medalist in four meets.

Young men's squad shows bright future

Led by junior team captains Jeff Bradley and Dale Tidwell, the Emporia High Cross Country team finished another year of hard work by taking 8th at the Regional Meet. The young varsity squad, comprised of the two juniors, sophomores Brenton Bennett, Cliff Greenlief, Alfie Lopez and Peter Torrey, and freshmen Mark Greer and Jon Pool, did exceptionally well running against other more experienced squads from across the state.

The squad put in a lot of hours, with early practices at 6:00 in the morning and also practices after school. In the morning, they ran between three and five miles. At afternoon practice, they ran anything from a series of 220's to mile intervals and sometimes more distance running. "Practices are tough!" said Co-Captain Dale Tidwell. "But we have a lot of enthusiasm in the team, which made them a lot easier and quicker," he concluded.

Competing in many meets throughout the season, the squad just didn't have the experience necessary to win. "We had a real good bunch of kids, but we just couldn't win against those experienced squads. We were a real young team and we should improve in the coming seasons," concluded Coach Pat Sands.

Women place 4th

Earning a medal at every meet excluding state, Patty Herrick, sr., Deneise Brown, jr., and Heather Houchin, soph., led the women's cross country team through a strong second season.

Because this was only the second year of competitive girls' cross country in Emporia, the team was relatively young, having only two seniors to provide leadership. However, they overcame this obstacle and took second at League on October 13 and fourth at the state meet on October 28. Deneise Brown placed fifth at the state meet.

Coach Pat Sands has bright hopes for the future. "With some work and dedication, this squad could be one of the best in the state," commented Coach Sands. With four girls returning next year, the future looks promising for women's cross country at Emporia High.

Varsity bows out of Sub-State tourney

Defeating Manhattan in an overtime for the Winter Sports Royalty on March 2 highlighted the men's varsity basketball season. Craig Taylor, sr., hit a follow shot in the overtime period at the buzzer to edge the Spartans past the Indians 62-60.

"It's one of those game that you're not supposed to win," recalled Head Coach Bill Linhart, "but you put it all together and you win it."

The rest of the season did not go as well for the varsity as they compiled a season record of 7-14. However, of their 14 losses, 6 were lost by 5 or fewer points. The season ended with a 60-38 loss to Manhattan in the second round of the 6A Sub-State playoffs.

Senior Andy Hoffmans led the team in several statistic categories. He shot 77% from the free throw line, had 26 assists and had 267 points on the year, averaging over 14 a game. Senior David Eudaley led the Spartans from the floor with a 51% field goal percentage. Junior Matt Werner claimed the rebounding title with 133 on the season, averaging seven rebounds a game.

"The season was a real learning experience for me as a coach," recalled Linhart. "You find out what kind of kids you have when everything isn't roses. And I found we have a good bunch of kids."

J.V. gets revenge on Leavenworth

Beating Leavenworth here highlighted a 6-10 season for the junior varsity. The victory was in revenge of a 40-point drubbing in the first part of the season.

Being outsized nearly all the time, Emporia held the rebounding edge in 15 out of the 16 games, according to Coach Bob Spinner. Juniors Tim Brock and Anthony Horn were the Spartan rebounding leaders. Sophomore Jeff Cravens was named the most consistent player by Coach Spinner. Sophomore James Stone and juniors Tony Banks and Jeff Longbine made up the core of the team, playing on both the junior varsity and varsity teams.

The junior varsity should add a great deal to the varsity next season, but "they also helped the varsity this year by pushing them in practice and making them become better ballplayers," concluded Coach Spinner.

Sophomores have frustrating season

Closing a disappointing season, the sophomore men's basketball team posted a 2-9 record. "All of the games were close, and the guys tried hard," said Coach Cleo Gardner.

Coach Gardner went on to explain that the wins and losses didn't determine the success that each individual made from the beginning of the year to the end.

The team's main focus was on a stiff man-to-man defense. "We worked hard on defense all year long," recalled Coach Gardner. The team ran the same kind of offense as the varsity did in preparation for the future.

"The highlight of the year for me was watching the guys improve as the season went along. They are very competitive and fun to coach. They should help the J.V. next year," concluded Coach Gardner.

Freshmen accept disappointments

Completing a disappointing season, the freshman basketball team ended with a 1-13 mark. "But for a 1-13 team, they were a good bunch of kids," commented Freshman Head Coach Bob Clements. "They never gave up and kept trying to win."

Marty Lippert led the team in the scoring category for the season. With more experience, especially from Kevin Woods and Brad LeClear, this could be a winning team in the next year or so, according to Coach Clements.

Summarizing the season, one freshman said, "We all wanted to win, but it just didn't happen that way."

Women's varsity masters 6A Sub-State

Winning 6A Sub-State at Salina Central on March 10 for the fourth consecutive year enabled the women's varsity basketball team to travel to State. In the first round of Sub-State, the Spartans downed Junction City 57-46. Free throws were a major factor in the game with the team making 17 of 31 at the line. Battling Salina Central in the Championship game of Sub-State, the Spartans claimed a tight 43-39 overtime victory. Coach Lloyd Steele credited a 1-3-1 zone defense for being a major asset in the E-High victory.

Being eliminated in the opening round of 6A State in Wichita ended the Spartans' season with a record of 12 wins and 10 losses. The Spartans lost 60-52 to Hutchinson.

The women's varsity team claimed second in the Fifth Annual Glacier's Edge Tournament held in Emporia on February 1, 2 and 3. Winning 57-52 over Wichita East advanced the Spartans to the semifinal round where they stunned Chase County 60-37. The Spartans lost starter Sandy Dennison early in the game with a knee injury. Junior Jean Hamman put up a half-court lob at the buzzer in the first period. She repeated her half-court performance to end the first half with E-High on top by 17 points. Losing 77-62 to Wichita's Bishop Carroll, the Spartans took second in the tournament. Senior Joi Ralston scored 24 of the 62 points. Jean Hamman and Joi Ralston were named to the all tournament team.

J.V. completes season with 9-6 record

Completing a 9 win, 6 loss record ended a successful season for the junior varsity women's basketball team.

Uprooting Junction City on December 12 allowed the Spartans a 64-63 victory over the Blue Jays. Sharon Collinge and Brenda Bletscher each downed 10 points.

The Spartans lost 51-35 to Shawnee Heights on January 12. Sophomore Brenda Bletscher topped the scoring with 13 points.

Leading the team to a 32-22 win on February 16 was Sophomore Heather Houchin with 8 points. Marlina Lopez scored 7 points in the win against Washburn Rural.

According to Brenda Bletscher, the highlight of the season was playing Manhattan. "Manhattan, a longtime rival, is always a big challenge," she stated.

The j.v. team salvaged a 30-23 win over Seaman on February 6. Top scorers were Brenda Bletscher and Marlina Lopez with 10 and 8 points consecutively.

Sharon Collinge led the Spartans with 10 points in a winning 35-32 effort against Washburn Rural on January 5.

Coach David Hodges cited hustle and aggressive playing as the main strengths of the team. "Towards the end of the season we had a lot of development as our younger players began improving," he stated.

The j.v. team ended the season on a sour note, losing two games, one to Manhattan 49-41 on February 27 and the other to Shawnee Heights 42-31 on February 23.

Freshman team reduced to seven

Seventeen people composed the freshman women's basketball team. The team was cut to seven before the Junction City Invitational on January 31 and February 1 so the freshman team could practice with the varsity and gain experience for the following season.

Playing good offense contributed to the 29-5 win over Ottawa on December 13 which, according to Coach Jim Knott, was the most successful win of the season. "We kept Ottawa from scoring," he stated.

Top scorers of the season were Terri Selby and RoseMary Cortez.

Losing to Newton 71-10 was the most disappointing loss. "Newton's a super team," said Coach Knott, "but we weren't even in the game."

Offense was the main weakness of the team, according to Coach Knott. "There were a lot of girls playing for the first time. It takes a while to acquire skills," he stated.

Freshman Julie Burenheide received a knee injury which kept her from playing most of the season.

"Although we had a poor season as far as wins and losses are concerned, I feel a lot of freshmen will go on to play fine basketball in the years ahead due to their good attitudes and their will to work, which will enable them to become better players."

Squad captures third at 6A Regionals

Taking third place in a highly competitive 6A Regional against six Wichita schools completed the season for the men's gymnastic team. The Spartans compiled a score of 119.9. Mark Chambers, Charlie LeClair and Van Walker went on to finals in two different events. Senior Jeff Evans received eighth in all-around competition. Charley LeClair finished with eleventh place.

"We compete against excellent teams during the regular season and our record does not look too impressive, but in our regional we placed third, being the only team out of the Wichita area," stated Coach Bob Wilburn. "I think this speaks well for our inexperienced team."

The Spartans captured sixth place at Highland Park on October 11. Jeff Evans led the team, medaling in vaulting, horse and all-around.

"We were a well-rounded team, with vaulting being our strongest point. Our main fault was not enough participants," said Coach Wilburn.

Lettermen were Rusty Ames, Andy Badeker, Mark Chambers, Jeff Evans, Bob Haselhuhn, Charlie LeClair, John Nichols and Van Walker.

Gymnastics begins rebuilding season

Recovering from a loss of two state contenders (Dawn Delavan and Jill Johnston), the women's gymnastic team began a rebuilding season.

Scoring 40 points at the Highland Park Invitational on September 28, the Spartans progressed to 63 points at Regionals on November 9. "With each meet, the girls improved and scored a greater number of points," stated Coach Linda Fox.

The Spartans finished sixth out of a field of eight teams at Washburn Rural on October 18. Junior Julie Delavan had a good all-around performance, scoring 6.3 on vaulting, 6.6 on floor exercises and 6.25 on the beam.

Injuries were factors which helped determine the outcome of several meets. Junior Julie Delavan sustained a hand injury and Freshman Jo Ellen Robinson had a back injury. "With two girls injured, we were short in a lot of areas," said Coach Fox.

Performing on the bars is the team's greatest weakness. According to Coach Fox, this is the hardest area and requires the most strength.

"I like gymnastics. To participate in it for four years I have to," stated Tracie Dixon, the lone senior on the team.

Swimmer places third at State Meet

Eight swimmers qualified for state competition that was held at K-State in Manhattan February 16.

Marc Campbell captured third in the 100-yard butterfly and tenth in the 200-yard individual medley, Roger Brickell placed eleventh in the 100-yard free style, Doug Blevins captured eighth in the 100-yard backstroke and Wade Turner placed twelfth in the 100-yard butterfly. "It was a surprise," said Marc. "Out of the six of us in the finals, four of us were within a tenth of a second of each other. We had to wait for the results to find out who won."

The swim team captured two third-place trophies: one at the Olathe Invitational and one at the Manhattan Invitational. Coach Terry Westbrook believes that the Manhattan meet was their most outstanding meet because it was a state preview with every team other than Wichita city and Shawnee Mission schools attending.

"We tapered very successfully this year as we averaged a good drop in most swimmers at State," said Coach Westbrook. "The backstroke, 200 individual medley and the butterfly were the areas of most improvement this year."

Women swimmers attend 12 meets

A total of twenty-six swimmers on both the Varsity and J.V. squads tried for state qualifying times. State champions Nan Hanna and Penni Wright were the most outstanding swimmers. Coach Terry Westbrook expressed hopes for Sue Gasso, Tracey Nelson and Sheryl Garrett next year.

According to Coach Westbrook, the toughest meet was with Shawnee Mission East, state champions for the past three years. "We're strong in freestyle, backstroke and breaststroke," said Coach Westbrook. "We should be a contender for the top five at state."

The swim team attended a total of twelve meets including the State Championships.

Wrestlers attend State at Junction City; Gene Noce receives State championship

Having a State Champion in Gene Noce was one of the most exciting happenings of the season for the wrestling squad. "I didn't plan on taking first," said Gene. "It felt pretty good to win it, and the coaching helped a lot," he added.

The Spartan wrestlers repeated this year as Centennial League Champions. The grapplers have been undefeated in duals since losing once last season. It was a pretty good year all the way around, as evidenced by the 9-0 dual record, the second place finish at Regionals, a fourth place tie at Sub-State, and a seventh place at State, though only four wrestlers went to State. The only other grappler to place at State was Senior Jerry Evans who took third.

The outlook for the next few years is good. "We'll have a real good year next year and the year after," said Coach Pat Sands. There are eight wrestlers returning who wrestled at Sub-State, and three returners who wrestled at State.

J.V. wrestlers end season undefeated

Junior varsity wrestling squad completed its year undefeated, with a 10-0 record. "We wrestled a lot of underclassmen, and it was really encouraging to go undefeated," said Coach Jay Ternes.

Some of the better wrestlers for the J.V. who will probably see a lot of varsity action next year are juniors Doug Buckbee and Tim Bollinger, whose records were 7-1 and 8-2 respectively, and sophomore Junior Dorsey with a record of 7-1.

"I felt that our best dual was against Salina Central," said Tim. "I felt my best match of the season was at Hayden, when I pinned the guy at the first of the second period," he added.

"The Hayden match was one of the best of the season, since it was close," said team member Doug Buckbee. "It was a real good season as a whole," he added.

"We should do well next year also as there are some real good freshman wrestlers," concluded Coach Ternes.

The squad did not attend two tournaments which were cancelled due to snow.

Freshman squad defeats Manhattan

Defeating the Manhattan freshmen in a dual match was the highlight for the freshman wrestling team. Manhattan had defeated Emporia for the past five years.

Finishing with a 3-2 dual record and two second place finishes in tournaments, Emporia was defeated only by an especially strong Junction City team.

"The best freshman dual wrestling match I have ever watched or coached was against Junction City in late January," said Coach Carl Stueve. With all matches close and three ending in draws, Junction City won by only one point. "All of the matches were very exciting," added Coach Stueve.

According to Coach Stueve, the team worked hard and attended practices regularly. They had the ability to come from behind and win matches which sometimes seemed almost out of reach.

Edward Head at 119 and Shawn Garriott at 155 were the outstanding members of the freshman squad who ended the year undefeated. The rest of the young men on the freshman varsity squad "did a real fine job" according to Coach Stueve.

"All in all, the boys were a fine group and will make outstanding Spartan wrestlers in the future," concluded Coach Stueve.

Rell-

Well, its finally coming to an end. We have been through alot this year haven't we. I shall procede to list some of these most memorable and unforgetful.

1. Mrs. Whiters (a sweet lady) and her homework and worksheets
2. TARS dance — I locked my keys in my car. (which lead to the dance) (Jeff)
3. Heidelburg (so I can't spell) Inn- the "Way College" guy came and talked to us
4. Gym- SOFTBALL AND SWIMMING (NEVER AGAIN)
5. AND all the other good times we've had.

You've been a great friend to have around this year (since we have all our classes together) I hope that since there will be just as close next year. I'm sure we'll have FUN

Good Luck Forever

P.S.

Squad captures two red ribbons

Attending International Cheerleader Foundation Camp at Kansas University on July 18-22 enabled the varsity cheerleaders to capture two red ribbons and one blue. The Spartans qualified for the final championship but didn't place.

After 12 varsity cheerleaders began their fall sports season, Senior Ursula Wilson discovered she was moving to Mississippi. Six weeks later, Junior Julie Delavan announced that she was moving to Texas after football season. "Our cheers and mounts had to be changed around to allow for two people moving," explained Head Cheerleader Brenda Seaton. "We kept the varsity squad at 10 people as we felt it would be very difficult to move a junior varsity cheerleader up to the varsity squad and teach her everything we had learned all summer before the next game."

During the women's basketball Glacier's Edge Tournament on February 1, 2, and 3, the Spartans provided a hospitality room for cheerleaders of the eight participating teams. "It was a place for the cheerleaders to relax and have refreshments while waiting to cheer," said Head Cheerleader Becky Davis. "We felt they shouldn't be out for snacks as they already had to pay for their meals."

Winning first place in a mini-float contest sponsored by StuCo enabled the Spartans to earn $50. A pig for "pigskin" with a crown on it symbolizing a queen carried out the theme of the contest.

To raise money for uniforms, overnight trips and camp, the cheerleaders sold mugs, jerseys, t-shirts, sport shirts, tumblers, ribbons and sponsored a car wash.

Winning a certificate for their cheerleading ability at the February 9 Winter Sports assembly were Freshmen Doug Cunningham, Bernie Gardenhire, Martin Lippert and Shawn Smith. This was a class competition with Virgil Dean, Connie Johnson, Cheryl Moddrell and Jerry Troxell serving as judges.

A barbeque for old and new cheerleaders was held at Lake Kahola after cheerleader elections for the 1979-1980 school year.

Squad receives exceptional rating

Cheering at 120 games capped off a busy year for the junior varisty cheerleaders.

Attending a four-day cheerleader camp on July 10-13 enabled the j.v. cheerleaders to capture one white ribbon (excellent) in competition rating the first day. They also received three red ribbons (superior) and one blue ribbon. The Spartans competed against a field of 34 other squads, with Emporia being the smallest at Fort Hays University.

After the first football game, Senior Becky Torrey was replaced by Sophomore Becky Hawes. "At first I was surprised and scared to cheer in front of upperclassmen," said Becky. Hawes. "Now I'm glad I had the opportunity."

During the summer, the junior varsity cheerleaders painted house numbers on curbs and made $74. They used the profits from the sale to purchase a football player mascot which was taken to games and used in the mini float parade sponsored by StuCo. They also sold ribbons, mugs, glasses, candy bars, shirts and participated in an aluminum can project along with the varsity cheerleaders.

A letter to the editor of THE ECHO, expressing j.v. cheerleaders' views on how little recognition they receive, appeared in the January 15 newspaper.

Five cheerleaders represent freshmen

"Exciting" is the word used to describe the Freshman Cheerleaders' season.

On Monday, September 11, freshman cheerleader tryouts were held. Those chosen were Barbara Burr, Lisa Mitchell, Jo Ellen Robinson and Kay Wagoner. The first football game of the season was September 14. When asked how she felt about cheering at a game three days after she was elected head cheerleader, Lisa Mitchell replied, "I was very nervous. Although we had a long and hard practice the night before, we still felt unprepared. I think they should have elected us sooner to give us a little more time."

Two weeks after Barbara Burr became a cheerleader, she discovered that her family was moving to Alabama. A new cheerleader, Libby Hollembeak, was quickly chosen. "Well, for me, the reason I'm a cheerleader is unusual. If one of the cheerleaders hadn't moved, I'd just be a fan. So even though I miss Barbara Burr, I'm also grateful to her," commented Libby Hollembeak. For football season there were five cheerleaders.

Kathy Nerka replaced Nadine Dolezal as the freshman sponsor. "Working with the girls has proved to be a rewarding experience," stated Miss Nerka.

Spartans receive 2+ rating at Hays

Traveling to Hays on October 27 and 28 and receiving a 2+ rating highlighted a successful season for the drill team. This was their first time to compete by themselves in competition. They also captured a 2 rating performing with the band.

A rifle team consisting of six women was added to the drill team. They performed with the band at football halftimes and posted the colors along with performing at basketball games. "This gave the band another unit doing something different with more action, colors and different uniforms," explained David Hodges, band director. "We feel if they can make it through the season we can have a super group next year."

After the football season ended, members of the drill team had the option of continuing into basketball season. "With so many things to participate in and with a lot of the girls in band, we felt this option was necessary," said Sponsor Ann Clark.

The drill team attended a pom pon camp during the summer at Emporia State University. They also conducted a two-day flag camp on August 16 and 17, instructing Chapparal High School in Anthony, Kansas, on the usage of flags.

New uniforms, flags and pom pons were purchased to give the team a new look.

Everybody has pet peeves; teachers and administrators are no exception. Many of us should recognize the following pet peeves of our teachers and administrators.

Dr. Harold Hosey
(Superintendent) "My greatest pet peeve is being misquoted."

Rex Lorenz
(Assistant Superintendent for Finance and Classified Personnel) "my wife cooking food I don't like."

Carroll Schubert
(Administrative Assistant) "My pet peeve is that we commit so much classroom time to students filling in a blank or checking a written response and then express concern that these students do not use the written language well."

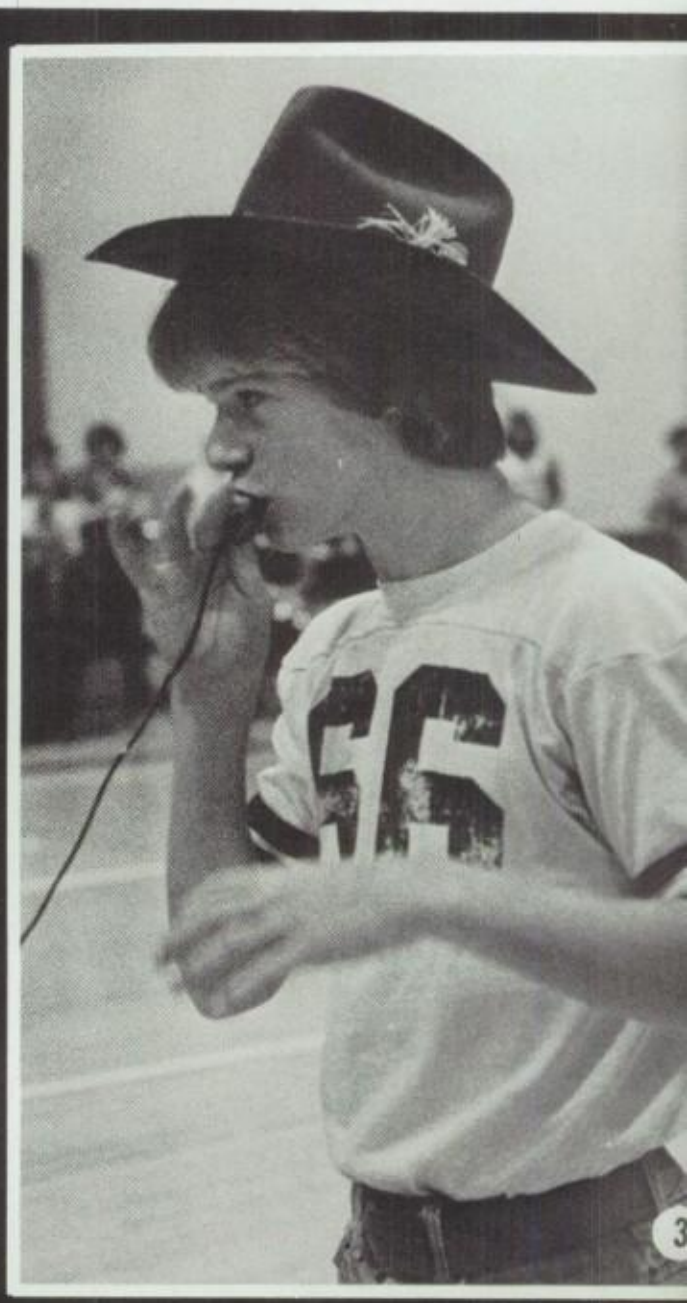
Running across the outside margins of each page in this section are words that summarize the trends of the 1978-79 school year. Names of famous personalities, movies, school activities and national news items were included to represent the wide variety of things that affected life in the halls of EHS.

[1] Cheerleaders Sally Miller, soph., and Mari Armitage, sr., spend their lunch hour visiting and selling Spartan mugs and t-shirts. [2] Cooking hot dogs at the Band party at Camp Alexander on November 11 are Juniors John Ecklund and Chris Stinson. [3] Representing the freshman class in a race to see who can eat licorice the fastest during the December 15 pep assembly is Marty Lippert, fr. [4] Senior Brenda Brandt models her Captain Hook costume worn in honor of Nursery School Day.



Senior yell: Give 'em hell!

"Everyone's a Winner" was the theme the senior class chose for the Winter Sports dance March 3, the first dance ever to be held in the new high school.

To raise money for the dance and a senior gift, the senior class sold 108 t-shirts, raising $162. Also, a bake sale on February 2 brought in $93.

In the senior Christmas window a vertical turntable was used to show Santa Claus ironing his suit while getting ready for Christmas Eve. The second place window was designed by Brenda Brandt with the help of Kevin Fox, Beth Glidewell and Marsha Hoffman.

Other traditional senior activities included Senior Night at Worlds of Fun, Senior Week and, of course, graduation.

Junior shout: Knock 'em out!

To prepare for the traditional Junior-Senior Prom, the junior class sold pennants at every football game, pennants and iron-ons at every basketball game, held a bake sale on February 11 and worked three basketball concessions in February. Over $300 was raised toward the Prom.

The junior class also participated in the class contests. For the float contest, Hal Luther represented Father Time for the junior class dream wagon, which placed third. The theme for the junior Christmas window was "Christmas Memories." Pat Hart designed the third place window using children looking over a railing at the Christmas tree.

Sophomore scream: We're supreme!

"We have put special emphasis on class contests," explained Sophomore Class President Fred Polzin, "and it has proven successful, as we have finished above the other classes three times."

Taking first place in both the Christmas window contest and the bus contest capped a successful year for the class. For their Christmas window, the class drew the Sesame Street characters. Shana Bollinger, Janice Butts and Kathy Parks, among others, participated in creating the first place window.

A dream wagon winning the 6A state championship was the sophomore float for the mini-float contest October 13, placing second behind the cheerleaders.

Freshman said: Knock 'em dead!

Freshman spirit surpassed all other classes during a February 9 pep assembly when freshmen won the cheerleading contest. Freshman cheerleaders were Doug Cunningham, Bernie Gardenhire, Martin Lippert and Shawn Smith.

For the Pigskin float contest, the freshmen made an EHS football field. Getting "skiing fever," they painted Santa Claus skiing down a mountain saying "Merry Christmas" for the class window contest.

Using the new popcorn machine at freshman games was a winter highlight for freshmen. Then, springtime brought a class car wash and bake sale.

Nell.
You're really a special person and I'm glad I got to know you better this year.
I really enjoyed having you in Biology this year and I hope I have you in a lot of classes this summer - that doesn't make sense because Sandy Dennison was molesting me!

Love ya.
Mitch

Nell, You are a really nice person and I'm glad I had you in Gym. I always like being around you. Come see me! Lots of Love,
Becky Crantz "81"

Nell, you a very very sweet girl
I like you alot! I love your hair! I hope you had a fun year! Have a lazy summer!
love Anne Somers

P.S. See ya on the Bus

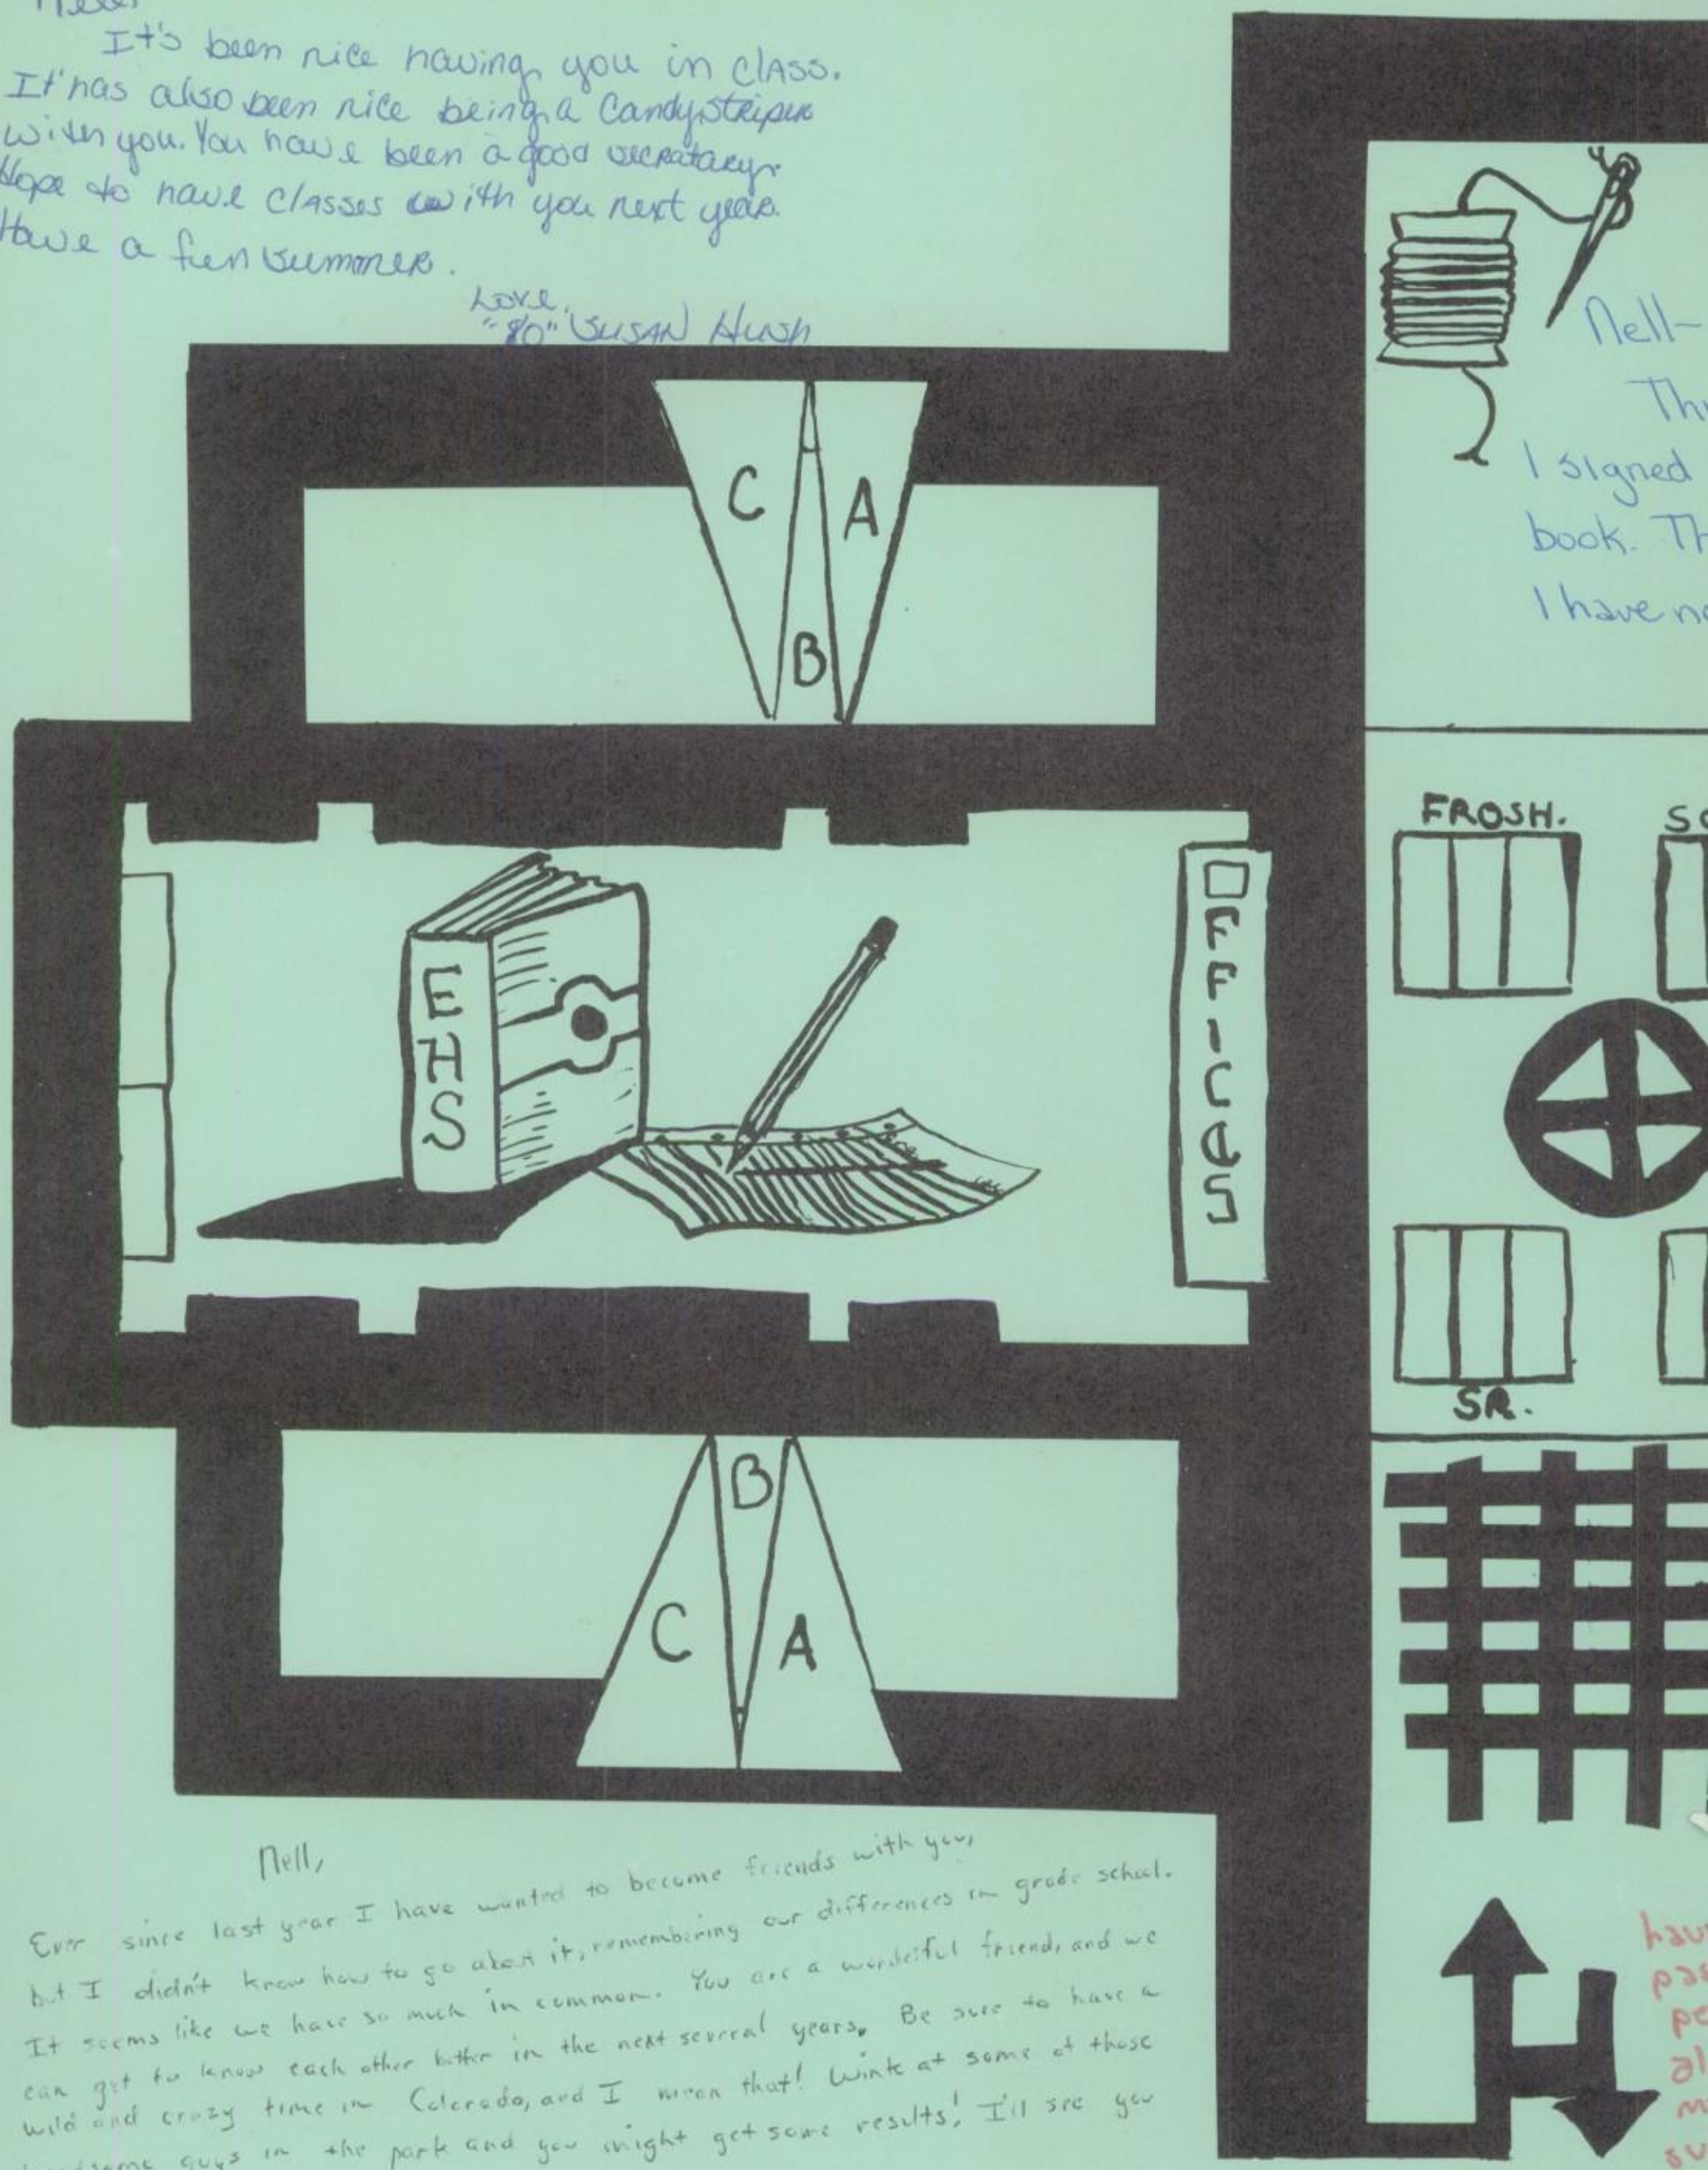
Have a lazy summer.
Candice Snyder

I'm glad I got to know you this year. I hope you have a fun summer. Have a lazy summer. Love ya. Mitch

Nell,

It's been nice having you in class. It has also been nice being a Candystriper with you. You have been a good secretary. Hope to have classes with you next year. Have a fun summer.

Love,
"80" Susan Hush



Nell,

Ever since last year I have wanted to become friends with you, but I didn't know how to go about it, remembering our differences in grade school. It seems like we have so much in common. You are a wonderful friend, and we can get to know each other better in the next several years. Be sure to have a wild and crazy time in Colorado, and I mean that! Wink at some of those handsome guys in the park and you might get some results! I'll see you around.

Love, Kaurin

Nell,
It's been fun having you in my class this year (you know good old P.E.) You're a sweet person and you've got a great personality, I hope that you have a good summer and I'll see you sometime. Good luck in the future.

Love & friendship

Nell,
It was a lot of fun
g you in English this year. You are a very fun son to be around and ays have a way of making smile. Have a "super"
mer and I may see you
ound town, so stay cool
d the best of luck forever
Luv
TIED

Nell,
It was fun being in the same class.
Even though it was whiter
We had a thing
it. Good Luck

Nell,
Its been fun makin' trouble for Mrs. Johnson hasn't it? I know she still thinks you're innocent and sweet (Boy, you got her fooled.). Even though you're always getting me in trouble, you're still one of the nicest people I know. Have a nice summer. I shall see you next year.
Have a nice day,

Yours,
Alan Rowe
